FORTIETH CONGRESS.

Senate Proceedings—Bill for the Admission of Arkansas to Representation—Adjournment Till Saturday—Business in the House—Mr. Stevens' Bill to Admit North and South Carolina, &c.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, May 13, 1868.

SENATE.

The Chair submitted a communication from Gen. Grant, enclosing the reports of District Commanders in the South of the numbers of white and colored voters registered in the different States, number cast for and against the ratification of the Constitutions, and the number neglecting to vote.

Mr. SHERMAN presented the resolutions of the Ohio Legislature, sent in the House report yesterday.

Mr. DAVIS gave notice of his intention to introduce a bill at an early day for the admission of the Territories of Arizona and Montana.

The Chair laid before the Senate the resignation of John W. Forney, Clerk of the Senate.

Mr. SUMNER moved that it be laid on the table. Negatived.

Mr. HENDRICKS offered a resolution that the resignation be accepted, and until the appointment of a successor Major McDonald act as Secretary.

Mr. SUMNER objected and the resolution went over.

Mr. WILSON offered a joint resolution to restore North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Florida and Louisiana to representation in Congress. Ordered to be printed,

Mr. SHERMAN called up the House bill for the admission of Arkansas, and suggested the advisability of taking immediate action upon it.

Mr. TRUMBULL opposed a departure from the ordinary practice, which required its reference to the Judiciary Committee.

Mr. JOHNSON took the same view, and said it would look to the country, although he did not believe such was the intention, as though the hasty admission of Arkansas was designed to influence the vote on impeachment.

Mr. DIXON thought it possible it might be claimed that the new Senators would have a right to vote, and contended nothing should be done which would admit the question to be raised.

Mr. SHERMAN deemed it inconceivable that those men would come here expecting to vote on impeachment, and urged the immediate passage of the bill, on the ground that such action would once more give moral sanction to the authority of legislation which was now insufficient [illegible] and prevent foreclosures.

Mr. EDMUNDS favored reference to the Committee in the regular way. He approved the Constitution, but thought a bad precedent should not be established. Besides, Republican Senators should not commit themselves to action which would render them liable to suspicion.

Mr. BUCKALEW raised the same points as to whether the Constitution was legally ratified that were made in the House, quoting the report of Gen. Gillem.

Mr. SHERMAN replied, citing the report of the officer sent to investigate the election, that no frauds had been shown on the part of the registers.

Mr. MORTON advocated postponement until Monday, saying the argument of the Senators from Maryland and Connecticut indicated what use would be made by its opponents if the attempt was made to pass it to-day. He was sure there was no intention to take such advantage of the passage of the bill, but would move an adjournment until Saturday.

Mr. HARLAN pointed out that the addition of two Senators would leave the same number of votes necessary as at present, hineteen, for acquittal, and would therefore operate adversely to the friends of conviction.

After further debate, Mr. TRUMBULL pledged the Judiciary Committee to an early consideration of the bill, and on motion of Mr. JOHNSON it was referred to them.

The Chair submitted the Constitution adopted by the Convention of South Carolina. Referred to the Committed on Territories.

Mr. TRUMBULL presented a petition from citizens of Illinois, praying for an appropriation for the enlargement of the St. Mary's Ship Canal. Referred to the Committee on Commerce.

Mr. STEWART, from the Committee on Judiciary, reported the bill to remove political disabilities of certain citizens of Alabama. He stated the Committee recommends that relief be extended to one hundred and six persons, being all those in regard to whom sufficient information had been furnished.

Messrs. MORTON and SUMNER pressed the motion to adjourn until Saturday.

Mr. ANTHONY moved to amend by substituting Friday, saying if much further delay were had the Senate might, instead of an August body, be called a September body. (Laughter.)

The amendment was rejected, and the motion to adjourn until Saturday prevailed.

Adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Mr. BRECK offered a resolution directing the Secretary of War and General of the Army to communicate the reports of the several District Commanders as to the elections on the ratification of the proposed Constitutions in Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Louisiana, and for the election of officers thereunder, with accompanying papers, &c. Adopted.

Mr. SCHENCK made a statement in reference to a recent New York item, that neither the Committee of Ways and Means nor himself knew of any complaint against Collector of Internal Revenue Bailey, of New York, and they had no person employed in any secret detective service. The Committee did not claim the authority and certainly had not the disposition to enter on that business.

The bill allowing the Whitehall and Plattsburg Railroad to pass across United States lands at Plattsburg was passed.

Mr. PRICE, from the Pacific Railroad Committee, reported back the bill, with amendments, to incorporate the Puget Sound and Columbia River Railroad Company.

After considerable discussion, and a proposition to amend, Mr. PRICE moved the previous question, which the House refused to second. The bill was then referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

The bill to admit North Carolina, South Carolina, Louisiana, Georgia and Alabama to representation in Congress was taken up.

Mr. STEVENS, of Pennsylvania, offered the following amendment as an additional section:

"And be it further enacted, that the provisions of section seventeen article five of the Constitution of Georgia shall not apply to a debt due to any person who, during the whole time of the rebellion, was loyal to the United States and opposed to secession."

Mr. STEVENS stated he would allow the whole day for debate on the part of members opposed to the bill, and that he would ask a vote on it to-morrow.

Mr. Beck made an hour's speech against the bill.

Mr. ROBINSON asked whether it was understood the House was going into the amendment of a State Constitution.

The SPEAKER stated that was a question for the House, not for the Chair.

Mr. STEVENS—I propose that amendment, and for this reason: the Constitution of Georgia nullifies all debts due before a certain period, as well those due to loyal men as those due rebels. My amendment is that it shall nullify only those to rebels, not to loyal men.

Mr. ROBINSON—Will the gentleman from Pennsylvania allow me to ask him how he is going to pick out creditors loyal and disloyal?

Mr. STEVENS—I am not going to do it; but when anybody claims to be loyal, I suppose he will pick himself out. [Laughter.]

Mr. ROBINSON—Then everybody will pick himself out.

Mr. PAINE inquired of Mr. Stevens whether this was an individual amendment of his own, or one that came from the Reconstruction Committee.

Mr. STEVENS replied—It is an individual amendment.

Mr. PRUYN—I rise to a question of order. I ask the chair to rule that this House has no right, by any legislation or attempted legislation, to interfere with the Constitution or the provisions of the Constitution of any State.

SPEAKER—The Chair overrules the point of order. He declines to rule as the gentleman from New York desires, because if that were his prerogative, he might be called upon to rule thus on bills which many members regard as unconstitutional and which the President vetoes as not being constitutional. The Speaker has no right in any legislative body to rule whether a proposition is constitutional or not, but only whether it is parliamentary. Its constitutionality affects its merits, and such questions are to be decided by the House and not by the Chair.

Mr. RANDALL asked Mr. Stevens where he got authority in the Constitution of the United States, or anywhere else, to amend the Constitution of a State?

Mr. STEVENS—I find it in the Constitution of a State. I find it the Constitution, which says Congress may admit the United States. I hold that Congress may admit them in just such shape as Congress pleases. I do not find any difficulty about that.

Mr. BROOKS gave notice that he would move the following amendment as an additional section:

"Be it further enacted, that on and after the passage of this act all citizens of the United States in the States heretofore named shall be admitted to equal rights of suffrage."

Mr. GARFIELD [illegible] of the Ohio Legislature, said that great deference ought to be paid to the opinions of State Legislatures, provided those Legislatures were by their conduct and opinions entitled to respect, and that he would refer to some of the acts of the Ohio Legislature to show whether that body was entitled to the confidence or contempt of the House. He referred to the act pretending to withdraw the consent of the State of Ohio to the fourteenth article of the amendment to the Consttitution, to the act remodelling the police laws of the leading Republican cities of the State so as to give them a Democratic police, to the act known as "the visible admixture law," to the act forbidding any students of colleges of Ohio, if not residents of the place, to vote, and to the act forbidding the inmates of the Soldiers' Home at Dayton, Ohio, to vote, because it was known they would vote as they had fought.

Mr. GARFIELD allowed interruptions from his colleagues, Messrs. Morgan and Van Zandt, in reference to local measures and politics, and replied to them.

Mr. ROBINSON spoke in opposition to the bill.

Mr. BROOKS got the floor, but yielded to Mr. PRUYN, who yielded to adjournment.

The Irish Murderer at Cincinnati.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, May 13.—In the United States District Court to-day Judge Leavitt delivered his opinion in the case of Patrick Ross, the murderer of Mary Carrigan in Ireland. The Judge held that Ross, having been identified by the Irish constables, must be retained in custody, but gives him until the 10th of June to produce evidence in his defence. He is still suffering from his attempts to cut his throat, and it is not probable he will live until that time.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

BURLINGTON, Vt., May 13.—It is said that General Curtis, special agent of the Treasury Department, has detected frauds in the importation of lumber from Canada, amounting to nearly $100,000 in gold, which amount will probably yet be collected. His authority has been extended so as to include the frontier from Burlington to Chicago.

Impeachment Meeting in Maine.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

LEWISTOWN, Me., May 13.—A large meeting was held last evening to protest against the acquittal of Johnson. Senator Fessenden's brother was one of the signers of the call. The course of Senator Morrill was approved.

THE GREAT CRISIS!

The Continued Excitement—More Hopeful Prospect—The Recreant Senators—Resignation of Mr. Forney.

WASHINGTON, May 13, 1868.

The Missouri delegation held a meeting last night at the room of General Pile to consider the proposal of Senator Henderson to resign at their request. After a full consultation among themselves and with Senator Henderson, it was ascertained that he would vote guilty on the eleventh article, and further action was postponed until to-day, with the understanding that if the eleventh article could not be carried, and any of the other articles could be by his resignation and the appointment of a successor, he would at once resign.

Senators Fessenden, Henderson, Grimes and Trumbull have all been requested to resign by the Congressmen of their several States to-day, and there is considerable excitement among the people. The general belief is that the Senators are determined to kill off Wade at Chicago, and will not convict the President until after next week, when, folks say, he will be removed in a jiffy.

The report that General Grant has informed Mr. Stewart, Mr. Washburne, or Mr. Fessenden, that he opposed conviction, or that he would decline the Republican nomination for the Presidency, is denied from headquarters.

Colonel Forney is fearful that the President will be acquitted, and it is said he knows all about it. Anthony, Willey, Ross, Frelinghuysen and Sherman are reported all right for conviction to-day. Mr. Wade is confident of thirty-seven votes for conviction on the eleventh article. Mr. Johnson is tickeled at the defection in the Republican ranks, and has no doubt of acquittal. It is not certain now that the President may not be covicted on any one of the articles.

The New York Tribune has the following this morning editorially: Confidential dispatches from the best authority, received last night by the editors of the Tribune, leave no room for doubt that the Senate will convict on Saturday. Leading friends of Mr. Johnson said last night that conviction is doubtful, the chances in their opinion being about even. A sagacious Republican leader said that Senator Anthony is safe. Senator Willey is sure on two articles, and Van Winkle is sure on the 11th.

Colonel Forney having yesterday resigned his position as Secretary of the Senate, he says in reference to it in this morning's Chronicle: He is no longer restrained by any official embarrassment in commenting upon the course of men who, in this critical hour, have joined hands with Andrew Johnson and his rebel associates and sympathizers. This announcement is followed by a very strong and able editorial, in which Trumbull, Grimes, Henderson, Fessenden and Chief Justice Chase are handled in a rough style. The editorial says: "Let any Republican who remembers the events of the past eight years [illegible] and Grimes. Their day of leadership has passed. They have witnessed a growing indisposition on the part of younger and more vigorous minds to submit to their dictatorial sway. As the Secretary of State, when defeated at Chicago, in 1860, made up his mind to destroy the Republican party, to which end his efforts have been directed ever since; as Andrew Johnson abandoned the friends who elected him, and thenceforward used all powers of Presidential office to destroy them; as the Chief Justice, soured by disappointment, has constantly sought to create a division in the Republican ranks, and if possible to defeat General Grant, so Senators Fessenden and Grimes have united with the common enemy at the most critical hour in the history of our party and of our country, and added their names to a catalogne of disappointed men. It is useless to close our eyes to the fact that the Chief Justice has persistently sought to divide the Republican party and to defeat the impeachment of the President, and that in this effort he has been aided by those Senators whose personal and political animosity toward that sterling patriot, Benjamin F. Wade, has been stronger than their devotion to their party or their country.

NEW YORK, May 13.—The Times to-day strongly sustains the position of Messrs. Fessenden, Trumbull, Grimes, Henderson and other Senators, saying the Republican party have reason to thank them for saving it from self-destruction before the contest is over.

The Post speaks in sharp terms against the threats made to coerce Trumbull to resign, and concerning the address of the Missouri Republican members asking Henderson to withhold his vote. It believes in acquittal, with sharp censure on the President for misconduct, and urges the members of the Court so grossly attacked to stand firm, for in any other direction stands disgrace.

The Tribune says "Nothing now remains to Mr. Grimes but the future he has so officiously welcomed, and nothing remains to us as a party, and especially to our friends in Iowa, who honored, trusted and promoted this man, but to make him an example to renegades for all time to come. When Mr. Fessenden and Mr. Trumbull finally consent to place themselves upon the record as apologists and defenders of Andrew Johnson, it will be time to discuss their act; but just now we feel that their intentions have been misunderstood by our friends in a moment of panic. We regret the adjournment. The suspension that pervades the country, nay the whole civilized world, should be ended. What the country wants is a verdict, and that speedily. If it is a verdict acquitting Johnson, we can understand it and are prepared to meet it. If it brings conviction, the sooner we enter upon the duties of a new administration the better for the interests of the people."

NEW YORK, May 13.—A Washington special to the Telegram says the result of the canvass to-day is declared quite favorable to conviction, and nearly every Republican Senator expresses the opinion that Saturday will close with that result. The dispatch adds that the Missouri delegation has succeeded in exacting from Mr. Henderson a pledge to vote for conviction on the eleventh article.

Wisconsin Republican Soldiers Convention.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

MILWAUKEE, May 13.—The Republican State Convention of Soldiers and Sailors assembled here to-day and elected delegates to the Chicago Convention pledged to support General Grant for President. Strong resolutions were passed endorsing Congress and its reconstruction measures and endorsing impeachment.

The Convention resolved further, that without regard to political results or influences, United States Senators constituting the High Court of Impeachment, of which the great American people form the jury, finding themselves unable, through convictions or other scruples, to ratify the verdict of the people, should render back to their constituency the power delegated to them, in order that the Republic may suffer no detriment.

REPORTS OF DISTRICT COMMANDERS.

General Grant's communication to the Senate to-day, encloses reports from the District Commanders, as follows:

Gen. Schofield's report gives the whole number of voters registered in Virginia at 225,933, of whom 120,111 are whites and 105,832 colored. Of these 4,417 whites and 12,887 blacks failed to vote on the question of calling a Convention. Judging from tax lists and other data the number of whites who failed to register is 16,343. There is no report of the number disfranchised in Virginia under the reconstruction laws.

Gen. Canby reports 106,721 white and 72,932 colored voters in North Carolina, nearly all of whom voted. It is estimated that 19,477 whites and 3,289 blacks failed to register, and of these 11,686 whites are disfranchised.

In South Carolina there are 46,883 white and 40,550 black votes registered, of whom 10,992 whites and 4,167 blacks failed to register. About seventy-five per cent. of the whites are disfranchised.

In Georgia 93,333 white and 95,168 colored voters are registered, of whom 69,333 whites and 24,758 colored failed to vote. Ten thousand whites are disfranchised and 8,500 refused to register.

In Alabama there are 61,295 white and 104,318 black voters, of whom 37,158 white and 34,947 colored failed to vote. There are no data to show the number disfranchised.

In Florida few are disfranchised and nearly all are registered and have voted. Number of whites 11,914, blacks 16,079.

Gen. Gillem says no data has been kept from which to ascertain the number of voters of different colors in Mississippi.

In Arkansas 25,697 failed to vote.

Gen. Houck reports 45,218 whites, and 85,436 blacks were registered in Louisiana. Of this number 50,480 failed to vote, but in what proportion the General is unable to say, nor can he report how many are disfranchised.

In Texas 55,633 whites and 49,497 colored voters are registered, of whom 1,657 whites and 36,932 blacks voted. The number disfranchised cannot be ascertained.

SENATOR HENDERSON AND HIS FRIENDS.

The following telegram was received to-day from St. Louis:

To Hon. J. B. Henderson: There is intense excitement here. A meeting is called for to-morrow night. Can your friends hope that you will vote for the eleventh article? If so, all will be well.

[Signed] E. W. FOX,

To which Senator Henderson replied:

Washington, May 13.—To E. W. Fox, St. Louis—Say to my friends that I am sworn to do impartial justice according to the law and the evidence, and I will to do it like an honest man.

[Signed] J. B. HENDERSON.

ILLNESS OF SENATOR GRIMES.

Senator Grimes was to-day attacked with sickness while at the Senate Chamber. It is supposed, from symptons, to be premonitory paralysis. He, however, was able to-night to converse with friends.

SENATOR CONKLING ILL.

Senator Conkling is confined to his lodgings by sickness.

SENATOR HOWARD.

The symptoms of Senator Howard are not so favorable to-night as this morning. He has more fever.

It is not true, as reported to-night, that Senators Nye and Morton are also sick.

SOLDIERS' NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The Soldiers' and Sailors' National Executive Committee met to-night and completed arrangements for the Convention at Chicago on the 19th. The State delegations will organize immediately upon their arrival at Chicago and the chairmen will report at once to the Secretary of the National Executive Committee at the Mattison House. The Committee adjourned to meet at Chicago on Saturday evening.

SCHENCK'S REVENUE BILL.

The Secretary and principal officials of the Treasury Department are opposed to the provision in Mr. Schenck's Revenue bill, reported yesterday, creating a separate department of internal revenue, on the ground that the supervision of the Treasury Department may exercise over the Revenue Bureau, and the scrutiny which its administration must undergo from persons not under control of the Commissioner, constitute one of the most effectual and necessary checks upon the management of so important a bureau.

COL. FORNEY'S RESIGNATION.

The resignation of Mr. Forney was laid before the Senate to-day. Mr. Sumner moved that it be laid upon the table, which was negatived.

Mr. Hendricks offered a resolution that the resignation be accepted, and that the duties of the office be exercised by Mr. McDonald, present Chief Clerk, until a successor be elected.

Mr. Sumner objected to the consideration of this resolution, and it went over.

SURRATT NOT ADMITTED TO BAIL.

A motion to admit John H. Surratt to bail was argued this morning, in the Criminal Court, before Chief Justice Carter. Mr. Merrick appeared for the prisoner, and A. G. Riddle opposed the motion on the part of the Government. Judge Carter decided that this was not a case in which the Court would be justified in admitting the prisoner to bail.

FUNDING BILL.

Senator Henderson's funding bill will be brought up at an early day and pressed to a vote. The indications are that it will be modified to suit the friends of the Sherman bill, and the latter, withdrawn or not, will be brought to a vote.

TARIFF BILL.

But little headway is made in the Ways and Means Committee on the tariff bill. Mr. Moorhead is trying to frame the bill to suit Western interests, but finds it up-hill work. He hopes to succeed in the end, however.

Burleigh were the principal speakers. Resolutions were adopted that if the Senate acquit Johnson, it will only join itself to him as disloyal, and demanding of the Republican party at Chicago a man who represents the most radical purpose of the loyal people, and a platform which shall guarantee to the negro, by Constitutional sanction, impartial suffrage, common school education and such legislation as will secure to him a homestead of land, and that no action of the great body of American Church gives any sufficient evidence of vigilance or Christian principles on the great question of the hour, while the unconditional surrender of the Boston Tract Society to its pro-slavery matter affords sad evidence of the existence of the old brotherhood of thieves. They also condemn the Democratic party and say it should be repudiated and denounced by all friends of justice and impartial suffrage.

ST. LOUIS, May 13.—The Dispatch, the Democratic evening paper here, recommends a public meeting of all classes of citizens to protest against the means now being used in Washington to procure a verdict of guilty against President Johnson.

The Circuit Court to-day entered judgments for $75,000 against various insurance companies in favor of Marshall & Kilpatrick, owners of the steamer Magnolia, burned some months ago, and which they were accused of destroying. Five other cases of $5,000 each remain, and are to be litigated in Cincinnati, the defendants being the Ohio Valley, Boatmen's Union, Central and Buckeye companies of that city.

In the United States Circuit Court to-day Edward Mercer, Mary Lewell and Mary Miller were sentenced to the penitentiary one year, and Edward Lewell three years, for uttering and passing counterfeit money.

California Intelligence.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13.—There is a strong feeling but no excitement over the reports from Washington. The leading Union papers express confidence in the Senate, whatever the result, and think the charge that the case was prejudiced amply refuted, but regret the prospect of acquittal.

Telegraph wires have been stretched across Columbia river five miles beyond the Cascades. The Western Union has projected a new line across the Sierra Nevada following the railroad.

Obituary.

Mr. Joseph McPherson, a well known resident of Chicago for the past eleven years, died at his residence, 499 Wabash avenue, on Monday morning. Mr. McPherson went to Chicago in 1857, and at once entered the employ of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railway as stock agent, a position which he held until a short time before his death. It was in this capacity that he constructed the old stock yards of this company in Chicago. The deceased was born in Huntingdon county, New Jersey, and was forty-one years and six months old at the time of his death. He was largely known in this community.

Our Leading Colored Citizens held a grand promenade and festival last night, at Ashland Hall, on the occasion of the installation of the officers of Hope Lodge, No. 12, I. O. Good Samaritans and Daughters of Samaria. The ceremonies were of a very interesting character.

Gas in Lawrenceville.—The citizens of Lawrenceville will soon have gas on all the principal streets. The main pipe has been laid to the lower gate of the Cemetery, on Butler street, and yesterday the workmen commenced laying pipe on Dravo street.

HASSAN AND THE ANGEL.

A PERSIAN LEGEND.

BY JOHN G. SAXE.

The Calif Hassan—so the tale is told—
In honors opulent and rich in gold,
One New Year's day, sat in a palm-tree's shade,
And, on a stone that lay beside him, made
An inventory—naming one by one
His benefactions: all that he had done
Throughout the year; and thus the items ran:—
"Five bags of gold for mosques in Ispahan;
For caravans to Mecca, seven more;
For amulets to pious people, four;
Three for the Ramazan; and two to pay
The Holy Dervishes who thrice a day
In prayer besought the safety of my soul;
Item, one loaf of bread, a weekly dole
To a poor widow with a sickly child."
The Calif read the reckoning o'er, and smiled
With conscious pleasure at the vast amount,
When, lo! a hand swept over the account!
With sudden anger, Hassan looked around,
And saw an Angel standing on the ground,
With wings of gold, and robe of purest white!
"I am God's messenger—employed to write
Within this book the pious deeds of men:
I have revised thy reckoning—look again!"
So to the man the Angel spake aloud,
Then slowly vanished in a rosy cloud.
The Calif, looking, saw upon the stone
The final item standing there alone!

—Richard Smith of the Cincinnati Gazette declines to run for Congress again, he ran against Gen. Cary last year and was defeated, a fact which all the world, Gen. Cary excepted, has never ceased to regret.

—The Nashville Press and Times is a paper very fond of long sensation items. On Monday it had a whole column all about a hermit, who has lived alone for five years in a log cabin in White county, Tennessee.

—James Buchanan, once familiarly known as "Old Buck," is supposed to be dying at his home at Wheatland. The old gentleman has a heavy weight of cares, years and sorrows to take with him to, or leave behind at the grave.

—It is hinted that Don Pedro II will abdicate as soon as the war with Paraguay has been brought to a close. He will show that rarest of all things, a ruler resigning the reins of government when at the height of his popularity and usefulness.

—Kirby Smith, of rebel notoriety, has been visiting Boston at the invitation of the so-called conservative soldiers and sailors Association. Those conservatives must surely be rebels. Kirby Smith is to take an active part in the coming campaign.

—George Francis Train had a brother named George T. M. Davis, who was a contractor on the Union Pacific Railroad until one week ago yesterday when he was shot and killed by an employé of his, named Wm. Brown. Brown is now in custody.

—Anthony Trollope, they say, is to write a new book about America. England is deluged with books about America, and Englishmen know about as much truth concerning America as they ever will, or perhaps as much as they do about Central Africa.

—Mr. Evart's speech was longer by one day than the French Revolution of 1830. This same comparison was made by Henry Clay in speaking of Benton's speech on the United States bank. It's queer that Clay should have thought of the same comparison as we did.

—That fearful body of men, the literary iconoclasts, have attacked no less a thing than the motto of the Prince of Wales. This should not be Ich Dien, it seems, (which means I serve) but the Cymrian Eich Dyn, "This is your man," which King Edward is supposed to have exclaimed as he held up the first Prince of Wales to the throng of Welsh warriors.

—Two hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars have been bequeathed to found professorships of the fine arts at the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge and London. Mr. Slade left this large sum for that purpose in his will, and bestowed his remarkable collection of glass and engravings on the British museum. He was a lawyer and died unmarried. He left a large portion of his fortune, which he had made himself, to distant relatives.

—Here are the titles of the Prince of Wales. Is it any wonder that he traveled in cog. in this country? "The Most High, Most Puissant and Most Illustrious Prince Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, Duke of Saxony, Duke of Cornwall and Rothesay, Earl of Chester, Carrick and Dublin, Baron of Renfrew, and Lord of the Isles, Great Stewart of Scotland, Principal Knight Companion of the Most Illustrious Order of St. Patrick, Knight of the Most Ancient and Most Noble Order of the Garter, Knight of the Most Ancient and Most Noble Order of the Thistle, Knight Grand Cross of the Most Honorable Order of the Bath, and Knight Grand Commander of the Most Exalted Order of the Star of India, a Member of Her Majesty's Most Honorable Privy Council, etc."

AMONG other terrible incidents connected with the capture of Humaita from the Paraguayans by the Brazilian squadron, the following is given:

The monitors had scarcely passed Tayi when they observed several chatas concealed in the bend of the river. One monitor had been left on guard near Humaita, and during the night seven of these chatas surrounded it. The commander, however, being on the alert, had the port holes closed, and boiling water got ready, lowering the vessel slightly so as to entice the enemy. At dead of night they came noiselessly, and springing on deck made for the hatchway, but found everything closed down, and not a soul to be seen anywhere. While all were thus huddled together on deck the port-hole in the tower was opened and a stream of boiling water came through pouring over the astounded crowd. In a few moments the deck was strewn with dead and dying in the most intense agonies, while the rest flung themselves into the river to cool themselves or to meet death in a less torturing manner.

AN Abyssinian correspondent writes: "Day after day chiefs come from a far distance to visit the white faces, many of whom never saw a white man before. Women shriek with delight on beholding such lovely forms clad in such strange yet rich costumes. Young girls are curious to feel the white skin of the Feringhees, and continue to come unperceived near a soldier and slyly touch him. Naked urchins press forward timidly, and gaze with serious little faces at the strange forms of the invaders. Long beards and smooth faces are the delight of the women, who clap their hands with glee when they catch a glimpse of those men most favored by the gods."

THE London Fun has an illustration in which the editors of the London magazines are represented carrying boards on which the names of their respective periodicals are inscribed. Thus Mr. Trollope, hirsute and spectacled; Yates, young, close-shaven and with a saucy smile; Miss Braddon—or as she really is, Mrs. Maxwell—large featured and decidedly plainer than her heroines; Hannay, with the look of a scholar, who is also a fast liver; Mrs. H. Wood, with long ringlets and past the middle term; Mrs. Riddle, younger and prettier, and many more.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, May 13, 1868.

The market is in a very unsettled state, and slight concessions are being made in prices. The concessions do not, however, increase the trade to any extent. Purchasers are confined to small amounts. Our jobbers are careful as to the credit system, at present, as many country dealers are not paying promptly, and merchants feel like declining sales on credit unless to parties who will make punctual settlement. On Prints and Sheetings prices are lower, and we quote as follows:

RIVER NEWS.

Both rivers continue to recede steadily at this point, with six feet two inches in the Monongahela, and seven feet four inches in the Allegheny. Oil City telegrams report thirty-two inches and stationary and raining, with good prospect for another rise in that stream. Here, the weather continues cloudy and warm, with occasional showers of rain.

The Belle Vernon arrived from St. Louis on Tuesday night with a fair trip, notwithstanding she put off considerable at way points between here and Cincinnati.

The Ingomar, from Wheeling, and Grey Eagle, from Parkersburg, arrived and departed as usual.

The Argosy left for Cincinnati about noon with a good trip, her guards being almost down to the water.

Ben. Hall and John Ferguson came up as pilots on the Belle Vernon.

The J. N. McCullough, from Cincinnati, arrived last evening with an excellent trip. She would have reached here much sooner had she not have been detained by fog. The McCullough leaves for Cincinnati as usual to-day at noon. Capt. George D. Moore is in command, with his brother Dan in the office.

The Kate Putnam, Capt. Geo. W. Reed, with Mr. J. D. Young, in the office, is announced to leave for St. Louis this evening without fail.

The St. Charles, from Cincinnati, is due here this afternoon, and will return as usual to-morrow evening at 5 o'clock.

The Ezra Porter is en route from New Orleans to Louisvillle, as is also the Selma, from the same port to St. Louis.

The St. Louis and Quincy Packet Company have purchased of Capt. Abrams and others the steamer Victory. The price paid was between $18,000 and $20,000. She will be placed in the "opposition" line in a few days, which will give them a boat each day. The Victory is a first-class stern-wheel boat, and originally cost $60,000.

The steamer George arrived at Shreveport a few days ago from Mineal Bayou, Indian Nation, 1,200 miles above Shreveport, 100 miles above the mouth of False Ouachita, having gone 100 miles further up Red river than ever before ascended by any steamboat. The George was on a trading expedition, got caught in low water, and laid eleven months waiting for a rise to get back.

The Bee arrived at New Orleans on the 7th, having in her barges, 17,154 bushels wheat, in bulk; 10,303 bbls flour, 9,825 sacks corn, 3,415 sacks oats, 3,100 sacks bran. 610 sacks wheat, 161 tierces lard and sundries.

The Montana Herald, of the 22d ult., says that it has reasonable authority for stating that the Missouri has risen twenty inches at Benton, but private advices state that the very lightest draught steamers are experiencing a great deal of trouble from low water above Fort Randall.

The Dubuque Herald, of Friday, remarks: Competition on down stream freights has lowered tariffs to 12½c per 100 pounds on grain to St. Louis, which rate more than one company offer to carry for. A few hundred sacks, procured for the Peter Balen at that figure, were taken by the Northwestern Union Packet Company at that rate. Flour was shipped at thirty cents per barrel to St. Louis, and sixty-five cents to New Orleans.

We take the following from the same paper of Saturday: River swelling lightly; came up one inch yesterday; weather clear and pleasant; considerable freight moving but no money in it to carriers. The war between the several lines of packets rages with extreme fierceness, and by next week shippers will be offered a bonus to let their freight go. The N. W. U. line is begging for shipments, and contracted at ten cents per one hundred pounds on grain to Saint Louis. This beats Merry's rates (12½c) and is a decline of ten cents since the season opened. Something will "bust" before long. Outside boats stand no show at these figures.

The Peter Balen departed without a pound of freight, and went to Galena, where she will no doubt have better luck.

Capt. Dryden telegraphs from Jeffersonville to the Cincinnati Commercial, under date of Monday: The Kate Robinson, bound for St. Louis, is here taking freight and passengers. She is full of people and loaded to her utmost capacity—a splendid trip.

The local inspectors have concluded their investigation of the collision case between the New State and Major Anderson, and have suspended the license of D. H. David, pilot of the Adderson, for 30 days.

The St. Louis Republican, of Monday, says: The Leni Leoti, which arrived from Pittsburgh, has nearly an entire cargo on board for Fort Benton. She is the last boat of the regular Kountz line, and will proceed on her voyage at once.

We clip the following items from the Louisville Courier of Tuesday: The Kate Robinson, for St. Louis, received considerable light freight here, and 48 tons of Government freight, 16 wagons and 4 ambulances at Jeffersonville, and 600 bbls cement at the mill, and passed down yesterday.

The Bengal Tiger took a tow of coal over the falls yesterday.

The towboat Diamond passed down yesterday with sixteen barges of coal for Memphis.

The Lady Grace was due at this port last night.

The towboat Panther sunk a barge of coal and five boats between Marietta and Pittsburgh.

GOLD closed yesterday in New York at 139⅞.

LET the country rejoice that a majority of the Senate have been faithful, among so many faithless. The intrigue to throw this government into the hands of copperheads and traitors has failed in the hour of its development.

THERE are Republicans who yet maintain, or at least hope, that the conviction of the President is possible. These hopeful individuals fail to reflect that none of the Conservative Senators, who have thus far declared how they will vote, are men to put their feet in a matter of this kind without knowing that enough are sure to follow to make the movement a success.

WHEN men who have been held in high repute make up their minds to perform acts unworthy of their fame, they do not avow the real motives by which they are influenced, but cast about for plausible reasons to assign. The reasons so far given in behalf of the Conservative Senators are so superficial and degrading as to excite just apprehensions that below the depth acknowledged there is a profounder deep of disgrace.

THE treachery of TRUMBULL, FESSENDEN & Co., benefits Republicanism by separating its tried and reliable friends, its supporters on principle and its defenders in its hour of trial, from the guerillas and bushwhackers who have hung upon its skirts, paralyzing its energies and blackening its honor. All this class of political plunderers will follow the recreant Senators, and the Republican party is once more purified and regenerated.

IT HAS BEEN APPARENT for many months that MR. JOHN W. FORNEY was hampered as a journalist by his official position. So long as he held the post of Secretary of the Senate he could not freely discuss public measures or pointedly commend or condemn the course of Senators. At last the restraint, so irksome to his nature, became intolerable, and he cast it off. At once his pen recovered the elasticity and vigor for which it was formerly most remarkable.

TALK of the personal integrity of men who, trusted with public station and charged upon their oaths with the highest responsibilities, have, on two occasions barely seven weeks apart, recorded themselves on each side of the gravest questions. The positions which they then chose, after abundant discussion and time for reflection, they now denounce and deny! It is said that they have sold themselves, and their reputed purchasers boast of the acquisition. A fig for their integrity!

LYMAN TRUMBULL, WILLIAM P. FESSENDEN, and their associates in this shameful intrigue to rob the people of the just fruits of the impeachment which these same men were instrumental in originating, will have the usual reward of traitors. ANDREW JOHNSON, who uses them as his tools, finding that they bring to his aid no political following, with its influence and power, will discard and abandon them, as the people have discarded them already. They are forever lost and undone.

THE conservative journals, including the Commercial of this city, concede that if MR. WADE was "out of the way" all hopes of the conviction of the President would vanish. This is to confess in the strongest possible form, that the Conservative Senators are not actuated by that nice sense of justice which was recently claimed for them, but are impelled by personal fears or political rivalries. What better reason for them to be controlled by motives of such a description than to put their votes in the market for so much cash?

A FACT is stated that the Conservative Senators, immediately after announcing their intention to so vote as to acquit the President, went in a body to dine with the Chief Traitor. This opportune display of fraternity tends to confirm the late statement of Mr. Chase that Mr. Chase is no longer in sympathy with the Republican party. Mr. Chase used the friendly offices of Mr. Pike, of the New York Tribune, to deny the accuracy of this representation, but we apprehend—against our former charitable exclusion—that events will prove Mr. Chase was not far, if at all, out of the way.

WE wish the projected new party joy of their prospects. A handful of traitors, who, for their own good names, had better have been in their graves before they achieved such measureless infamy, are not the stuff out of which living and powerful parties are made. Their hopes will be blasted, their expectations will be Dead Sea apples, their future lives will be made miserable by the indignant scorn of every honest man, and there is not one of these recreants who will not when dying welcome that tomb to which all that he had worth living for shall have long preceded him.

WASHINGTON SPECIALS to various journals, the Commereial of this city among the number, affirm that the Conservative Senators will vote for the acquittal of the President in accordance with the terms of a bargain made with him, by which they are to have the disposal of the public patronage in their respective States, and this with a view to the organization of a new political party. This revelation does not surprise us, for we have long observed that gentlemen who make a parade of eminent social standing are apt to use their status as a cover from behind which to work rascality with greediness.

Now is the time for Republicans to see who are their friends. The sincerity and purity of Republican principles are decisively tested by current events. When you hear a man expressing his doubt of JOHNSON'S guilt, when you see a Senator dilating upon the solemnities of his oath, when you read a newspaper which apologizes for and extenuates the treachery of your leaders, be sure that the man was never heartily and upon principle a Republican; that the Senator seeks to cover his personal villainy, and that the newspaper never deserved belief or respect as an exponent of the Republican faith. Spot all such and their apologists as the most dangerous enemies of your party, corrupt jobbers while in power, traitors in the hour of peril and ready to rend you in your extremity! Mark and remember them!

THE PUBLIC DECAY.

The historian teaches no lesson more sad than that which illustrates the inseparable connection between the ripening of personal immorality and social depravity in any people and the decay of its political greatness. The annals of all time concur in dating the decadence of the power and influence of States from the culmination of private wickedness in the people, All ranks of society become corrupt, licentious, devotees of pleasure rather than worshippers of justice and truth, all private relations become demoralized, public men surrender themselves to a shameful venality, the power of high place is prostituted to personal profit, to the gratification of infamous desires, or the accomplishment of unworthy private ends, in the obliteration of all the remaining barriers which restrain the public policy by a sense of natural justice, of respect for the Divine law, or of deference to a surviving virtue. Society gives itself up to a shameful indifference to the obligations of decency, honor and truth, the parental, filial and matrimonial relations are relaxed, or unblushingly discarded, the administration of justice becomes impure and corrupt, its decrees are sold for a price, rulers no longer study the public ends, but seek only to make profit for themselves, oppressing the people, robbing the treasury, making merchandise of legislation, and trampling upon morality, justice and the national good. The inevitable catastrophe is a general public ruin.

It is a matter for much doubt whether the social corruptions and the political demoralition of nations are, either of them, justly attributable to the other. Certainly no people can be long misgoverned which preserves its social regard for the purer principles of morality and virtue. Nor could any government long withstand, in the interests of national justice and public honor, the destructive influences of private immorality and social debasement. Each reflects, sooner or later, with a fidelity which in time becomes absolute, the moral status of the other. Popular depravity creates, and in time becomes the just prey of, the public rottenness, and the most admirable theory of government soon yields, in practice, to the destructive influences of social vice. No people have ever yet preserved their national greatness, or long maintained their independence, after they had ceased to recognize truth, honor and virtue as the paramount individual, social and political obligations. A disregard of all the Divine laws has invariably preceded, if it did not result in, a corrupted, enervated and hopelessly debased social sentiment and a ruined and overturned State.

Apply these deductions from history to the present state of society, politics and public affairs in this Republic of ours, and we cannot avoid the most unpleasant reflections. It is not to be denied that a shameless immorality has made vast progress in sapping the basis of the social structure. The marriage relation begins to be regarded as but a temporary convenience. The administration of justice is reduced to a mere mockery when it concerns a wealthy criminal; no rich man, with influential connections, fails to escape from the just penalties of whatever crime he may commit. Sensuality the most unblushing, dishonesty the most flagrant, vice the most abominable, provided its surface be refined, have votaries among all ranks, defenders in a corrupted press, champions in a dishonored profession and indulgence with venal judges. Public exhibitions as lasciviously vile as any known to the Roman Empire or the old French monarchy in their decay, are sustained by our people, which has become so thoroughly debauched that it demands and will be satisfied with nothing else. Every wicked art known in the annals of man's depravity, flourishes in our midst. Places of public trust are put up to sale and are openly bought by the longest purse and made fruitful for a private profit far beyond their cost. Legislators sell their votes and demand enormous bribes for the performance of the plainest duties, or, by their participation in the most gigantic schemes of public plunder, enrich themselves and their connections with a rapidity and to a magnitude of profit never before dreamed of. The highest magistrate of the land lives, it is believed and not one denies it, in the habitual daily disregard of personal morality and official integrity. Senators and Representatives live in the most shameful relations of personal immorality, and still enjoy the public confidence. They engage in the boldest jobs of public plunder, bestowing the national domain, the treasury funds, and the lucrative places of the government upon their creatures, who, in turn, repay to them large portions of the profit. Personal immorality, official dishonesty, executive corruption, an universal rottenness are the conspicuous features of Congressional and Legislative bodies at this day. The assemblage of a law-making body, State or National, is the signal for a gathering of men without a solitary principle and of women without one remaining shred of virtue, who, this day, hold throughout our land the reins of the government in their reckless and shameless hands, and are driving us as a people straight and fast down the road to our National ruin. No party can claim its pure exemption from this censure; majorities are debauched and minorities wink their complicity in guilt for a share of its rewards.

Saving influences are not wholly dead. The press has still some faithful friends to public honor and private virtue. The pulpit begins to see the peril and is finding a voice which should be trumpet-tongued to warn the people of the judgments which the Ruler of Nations surely visits upon all who transgress the Divine commandments. Nor are all the people utterly depraved. Misled by partizan feeling, habituated to confide in their leaders and scarcely yet persuaded of the unmixed wickedness which has come to the control of their public affairs, there are hopeful indications that they will yet awake to the national peril, and purge the public councils of the whoremongers, thieves and traitors who are bringing the Republic to its ruin. Public Liberty, Personal Morality and Official Integrity must ever live or perish together. Let the citizens resolve that no man whose personal character is impure, or whose public record is stained with an abuse of his trust, shall, whatever his professed political opinions, be again elevated to power by their confidence, and that no party which selects such unworthy candidates need ask for their support, and this will be the promising initiative for that great reform which alone can save the people.

We condemn ANDREW JOHNSON for the dangerous errors of his political policy. Yet, if the reports be true which represent him as a man personally impure, defiling the highest place in the Republic by shameless debaucheries, profane, intemperate, and licentious as a man, given up to the vilest passions of human nature, corrupt and equally shameless in the modes by which he makes pecuniary gain in the systematic sale of his prerogatives, and in his constant, daily complicity in frauds upon the National Treasury, through violations of the revenue law and otherwise, we hold that these things, constituting a spectacle of Public Vice, are infinitely more damnifying to the hopes of National Liberty and the perpetuation of Republican Independence than all the mere political misdeeds that his bitterest opponents ever laid at his door.

Much as we condemn the political heresies of this man Johnson, and sadly as we deplore the injuries he has inflicted upon the dearest interests of the Republic in its good name, its repose, and its material prosperity, his offences in that regard are simply trifles and easily to be pardoned, in comparison with the ineffable disgrace which the venality of Senators has brought upon this Nation. We hold that the treachery which was so villainously displayed on Tuesday at the Capitol, and which is boasted of without shame, can have no other explanation, and that the Senators who have sold their country's peace and their own oaths for a price, have stricken at Republican Liberty a blow more deadly than any which JOHNSON aimed or which DAVIS and LEE supported with a manlier courage. Our institutions withstood the shock of rebellion, and lived. The country has so far resisted the usurpations of its chief political offender, and its liberties may not be seriously endangered. But no system of government—least of all one based like ours upon a theory of popular virtue and intelligence—can long hope to retain its independence, its honor, its place among the nations, when its public men are lost to personal decency and private shame, and Corruption, Venality and Robbery rule in its councils.

FREEDOM OF OPINION.

"In the long run, the habit of keeping back much of what he thinks, acts destructively on the man himself. The practice dims his conscience and alters his very creed. He suppresses so much that in the end he blots out part of himself, and hardly knows what he believes as a man, and what as a partisan. While the process of decline is going on, the man's utterances lack the warmth, the clearess, the sharp edge, which we find in the ideas that come straight from the heart and brain. That is why partisan speeches sound so hollow: that is why the writings of able men, in the leading columns even of the chief journals, so often lack edge and distinctness, and seem the work of an intellectual machine, rather than of living intellect."—Phil. Post.

There is another side to this subject, and one deserving of yet graver consideration. So far as we are able to judge, the suppression of opinion is not the pre-eminent fault of these times. On the contrary, the freedom, not to say recklessness, with which opinions of men and things are expressed, is one of the chief blemishes of the press and of individual members of society. It is easy to win a reputation for smartness, if one can so far smother his better instincts as to print or speak all the sharp and bitter thoughts that come into his head. Many brilliant reputations have no solider foundation.

Let a man, in his intercourse with his fellows, adopt the rule that he will not keep back what he thinks of them, and see how uncomfortable he will make his own position. To illustrate; let the editor of the Post put on his hat and walk up Chestnut street, saying of and to every man he meets, whom he knows either personally or by fame, all he thinks of them, and he will get knocked down at least half a dozen times before finishing his promenade, and will deserve all he gets. Nor is this peculiar to that gentleman. Most men, if not all men, are in the same situation.

If, however, our contemporary designed its strictures to apply only to the lack of manly frankness in stating views of principles and systems, then we consent to the justice of what it says. But, it must be remembered that while idle declamations as to freedom of thought and expression are sufficiently abundant, so much of the old leaven of intolerance remains that it is not unfrequently perilous to a man's ease, and comfort, and social position, to exercise a right almost universally conceded in the abstract. If a person has very unusual powers and attainments, his genius may earn for him some sort of impunity; but even such instances of sufferance are comparatively rare. By far the larger part of the great thinkers of this age, who have used their right to promulgate freely their peculiar ideas have been consigned to isolation, unless, indeed, their powers have been at once so superior and attractive as to extort concessions not granted to others. Society, while it confesses to a creed embracing absolute freedom of opinion, does not fail to take revenge upon most men who believe it to be sincere in that particular. Whoever is ambitious of being, in a subordinate sense, a martyr, can pretty certainly attain that end by saying what he thinks; but the fact is—and we are not sorry for it—the martyr spirit is not as common as it was. Most people pretend to reverence it when displayed in behalf of ideas with which they are themselves identified, but have little patience with it when exhibited on the adverse side. Republicans have come to applaud Mr. GARRISON, but they have no liking for Mr. VALLANDIGHAM. These cases do not stand alone. To whatever department of thought or investigation you turn, precisely the like anomalies are discernable. The time has not yet arrived, and probably never will come, when men will bear patiently to have their fellows say plainly all they think.

A DEMOCRATIC COMPROMISE.

The Democratic members of the New York Assembly, prior to their adjournment last week, voted unanimously in favor of a report from the Committee on Federal Relations, relative to the financial policy proper for the country. This report asserted broadly the PENDLETON theory, as to the payment in currency of the principal of the Government bonds. But the same document protests, with marked emphasis, against any proposition to "debauch the currency in order to defraud the public creditor, and all other creditors; but it will extinguish public obligations, when it comes into power, in such currency as Congress shall give to the people, to meet ordinary obligations between them." This modifies Mr. PENDLETON'S plan decidedly. He and his friends propose to "debauch" the currency by the immediate issue of hundreds of millions of additional legal-tender paper. The New York Democrats accept the means, but not the mode of payment which he proposes. They adopt the principle, but object to his application of it. They will "extinguish obligations," but do not stand pledged to any anticipation of the maturity of the debt. They do not go any further than, even if as far as, the Ohio and Indiana Republicans, who do favor the payment of the bonds, from time to time, out of the surplus funds of the Treasury.

It is evident that the New York Democracy, in conceding the principle that the bonds may be redeemed in legal tender currency, but declining to approve of its wholesale, immediate application, contemplate a position of compromise between the Eastern and Western sentiment of the party. Whether they expect to reconcile Mr. PENDLETON'S friends to another candidate upon this platform, or to satisfy his Eastern opponents by nominating him upon the restricted basis, is a matter for time to determine. It is only certain that some sort of a "sell-out" is contemplated, for the endorsement of their July Convention, and that the necessities of the party are driving it to a middle ground between its factions.

A CONSERVATIVE journal in recounting the present aspect of the impeachment trial, blandly dissuades from "wasting breath in quarreling with men who are unquestionably acting in obedience to their highest and noblest convictions of right and duty."

In the same column that journal insists that "promises of reform," tendered by Mr. JOHNSON, had much to do in shaping the decision of the recreant Senators; and, furthermore, that they were "soured and disgusted" by indiscreet friends of Mr. WADE.

These latter assertions may be true; but if they embody the "highest and noblest convictions of right and duty" the Senators in question are capable of, they are a much worse lot than we supposed.

THE Chicago Republican says, of the action of the Methodist Conference in receiving the Mission Conferences of the South:

This act is particularly noticeable and commendable from the fact that two of these conferences are composed wholly of colored men, and two of the delegates present, and now entitled to seats on the floor of the Conference, are colored men. This, it would seem, is the last and death-blow to that evil spirit of caste, born of slavery, and nourished through so many years of our history. Here are two negroes admitted into the highest legislative council of, to assist in legislating for, the largest and most influential Christian body in the land.

Now, for the first time in her history, has the great Methodist Episcopal Church come upon true Scriptural ground in reference to all those for whose welfare she is so assiduously laboring.

THE report that Mr. Anderson, the magician, had taken his wife back, after she deserted him for his agent, Norris, was incorrect. He has separated from her, entirely.

The Colored Democracy.

We notice, says the New York Evening Post, signs in different Southern papers that Democratic politicians begin to accept the situation. The Savannah News, for instance, which is a most rancorous Democratic sheet, in its issue of the 28th of April heads a leading editorial article with the words, "The Colored Democracy of the South," and quotes the following letter from Marshalville, in Georgia:

"I wrote you day before yesterday that we had one hundred and fifty colored men to carry to the polls at Oglethorpe. We carried them, and they voted the straight Democratic ticket. As we came back on the train the ladies of Montezuma presented us with a beautiful flag, with the name of 'Gordon' inscribed upon it. When we got to Andersonville we did not open our stores, but went to work again, and yesterday we went down with one hundred and fifty more voters; each man, black and white, wearing a badge (a piece of pink ribbon) in his button hole. The enthusiasm was intense; the negroes whooping and shouting for the Democrats and Gordon. When we arrived at Montezuma we were presented with another banner, on which was inscribed, 'Gordon our Governor.' It was presented by Mr. Neal, of that place, in behalf of the ladies, and was received by Major Booton in behalf of the Marshalvilians, with a soul stirring speech of about five minutes' duration. We then started for Oglethorpe. Arriving there the negroes were formed in line by twos; one banner was put at the head, one in the centre and one at the foot of the column. The word forward was given, and I never heard such yells for 'Gordon and Georgia' in my life. There was not a Radical to be seen on the street, and we had everything our own way. About twelve o'clock, Frail, the negro candidate for the Legislature made, his appearance. The negroes went for him, and would have handled him roughly had not the soldiers and whites interfered for his protection. The guard performed their duty promptly, but showed no disposition to go beyond the line of their duty, by interfering in the election."

The News comments on this, in these words:

"The writer mentions the name of several prominent colored men who took an active part in the election and worked zealously for the success of the democratic party.

"This, with numerous other incidents that have come to our knowledge, gives us assurance that the newly enfranchised, as they come to understand their true interests, will be a prolific source of democratic strength."

The same journal remarks:

"As information reaches us from the interior of the State, where the colored people had not been deceived and corrupted by lying emissaries and miscreant renegades and office-seeking traitors, we are confirmed in the opinion that, if the proper steps had been taken in time to enlighten the race in regard to the true issues involved in the late election, and the character and designs of their pretended friends, a very large number of the more intelligent and respectable men among them could have been induced to have cast their votes for the true interests of the State."

Whenever the democratic party accepts the new order of things, and cordially favors impartial suffrage, we do not doubt it will be able to attract a considerable part of the colored vote. But so long as it opposes what it calls a negro suffrage, it will hardly get the support of the class whom its success would disfranchise.

THE rebels, who, on Saturday, decorated the graves of their friends on the Bull Run battle-field, were impudently jubilant, and predicted the immediate downfall of Radicalism, root and branch.—Washington dispatch.

In the same way, and with the same hope, the treachery of Monday is welcomed by Rebels, Conservatives and Copperheads throughout the country.

BEWARE

Of that remorseless and insidious destroyer of the human race,

CONSUMPTION.

Check and conquer its advances, lest you fall the victim. When attacked with any of its preliminary symptoms, no matter how slight, be on your guard and promptly use the remedy ere too late.

DR. SARGENT'S COUGH SYRUP

Is an old, well tried, certain and standard remedy for Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, Difficulty of Breathing, Pain or Oppression in the Chest or Lungs, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs. Its sure and certain efficacy has been fully tested and endorsed for many years by numbers of well-known citizens in our midst, and their certificates are on record. Have you a cough which has gradually increased from a slight one to one of permanent standing? Lose no time, but procure a bottle of DR. SARGENT'S COUGH SYRUP, which will surely relieve you of the dangerous premonitory symptoms and effect a permanent cure. Do you spend miserable days and long sleepless nights of tortured pain from attacks of Asthma or Difficulty of Breathing? Dr. SARGENT'S Cough Syrup will act promptly, relieve you, and gradually restore you to your freedom of pain, and sound, pleasant sleep. Are your lungs sore and irritated, indicating inflammation? This is one of the most dangerous symptoms, and should be promptly removed. Dr. SARGENT'S Cough Syrup will heal the soreness, allay the inflammation, and restore the lungs to their prestine health and vigor. This Cough Syrup is pleasant and agreeable to take, while powerful and sure in its action. For sale by all Druggists in the country.

AVOID POISON.

Invalid reader, do you know what nine-tenths of the bitter compounds you are solicited by the proprietors to accept as universal panaceas are composed of? Give heed for a moment. They are manufactured from unpurified alcohol, containing a considerable portion of fusil oil—a poison almost as deadly as prussic acid. The basis of the regular tinctures of the Materia Medica is the same. No amount of "herbal extracts" can overcome the bad tendency of this pernicious element. The essence of sound Rye, thoroughly rectified, is the only stimulant which can be safely used as a component of a tonic, alterative and anti-bilious medicine, and HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is the only medicinal preparation in the world in which this article is used as an ingredient. Hence the extraordinary effects of this great specific. It gives strength without producing excitement. No other tonic does this. All the ordinary Bitters flush the face and affect the brain. HOSTETTER'S BITTERS diffuses an agreeable calm through the nervous system, promotes digestion and produces sleep. No other tonic so quickly revives the exhausted physical energies, restores the appetite and removes the gloom and depression which always accompanies weakness of the bodily powers. It purges from the system the morbid humors which retard its natural functions, and which bring paleness to the cheek and suffering to the brow. It banishes those clogs upon pleasure, restores the system to high health, and necessarily proves a valuable adjunct to the digestive organs. A trial is all that is needed to establish it in the confidence of the skeptic.

ANOTHER CURE OF DEAFNESS.

I lost my hearing during the last year. Part of the time I was totally deaf. In April of this year I was induced, from an advertisement, to make application to DR. KEYSER, 120 Penn street, Pittsburgh. After having tried various medicines from doctors, without any benefit, I have been under Dr. Keyser's treatment now for nearly two months, and am entirely restored to my hearing, so that I can hear a pin drop. JOHN SCANLAN,
Coal Bluffs, Washington Co., Pa.

ANOTHER CURE.

A man called to-day at Dr. Keyser's office to inform him of a great cure made by his LUNG CURE, or PULMONARY RESTORATIVE. But these cures are made with the Doctor's preparations, he desires it to be distinctly understood that most of his great cures are made in accordance with the established laws that govern the science of medicine, in which he has been engaged for the past twenty-five years. Last week he was also in receipt of a letter from a clergyman in the State of Ohio, detailing another most wonderful cure.

DR. KEYSER'S RESIDENT CONSULTING OFFICE FOR LUNG EXAMINATIONS AND TREATMENT OF CHRONIC DISEASES, No. 120 PENN STREET, FROM 9 A. M. UNTIL 3 P. M.

THERE is a kind of ant in Texas remarkable not only for keeping other ants in slavery, and employing them in public works for the benefit of the community at large, but also for sewing around their settlement the seeds of small gramineaceous plant, which they afterwards reap and store away in graneries constructed for the purpose. This proves the existence of a decided anti-slavery movement in Texas.

Which TEN YEARS' TRIAL in New York and other Eastern cities has proved a complete success.

ITS ADVANTAGES:

1st—Fading and Shrinkage are completely avoided.

2d—No ripping apart necessary.

3d—When freed from dust, moths or their larvae, the Carpet looks nearly as good as new, save the natural fading from wear.

4th—When perfectly clean, a Carpet will wear as long again, a desirable matter as a mere point of economy, to say nothing of looks.

The improvements are a two-story brick house of six rooms, hall and cellar, a good frame bank barn with stabling underneath, and other outbuildings; a well of good standing water at the door, and several standing springs of water on the farm, and an orchard of 200 trees of selected fruits of apples, cherries, pears, peaches, quinces and grapes. This property being located near the line of the railroad, within one hour's ride of the city, makes it very desirable for gardening or a dairy farm; it is also a good and beautiful location for country homes near the city, lying immediately on the river, on the opposite side from the railroad. The West Newton Accommodation and other trains on the railroad afford certain and frequent opportunities of daily communication to and from this city. Will be sold as a whole or in lots of one acre or more, to suit purchasers.

There is on the place a young apple and peach orchard; 120 acres cleared land, divided into fields of convenient size, a large portion of which are well set in clover and timothy; the residue of said tract covered with good timber. It is well watered and underlaid with coal and limestone, and is convenient to churches, schools, stores, mills and blacksmith shops. A real good bargain is offered in this excellent farm; and with it will be sold all the personal property on the premises, consisting of horses, cows, stock cattle, hogs and poultry, harness, gears, wagon, plows, farming implements and household and kitchen furniture. Together will be sold very low and on easy terms, to a responsible purchaser.

It is well watered and underlaid with limestone and flag stone of a superior quality, with stone coal for the use of the farm.

SECURITY AND COMFORT FOR THE TRAVELING COMMUNITY.

J. B. HARRIS' SAFETY FIRE JACKET,

Car Heater and Moderator,

For SMOKE AND HOT AIR FLUES, dispensing with the use of Stoves and Fires in or about the Passenger or Baggage Cars, with the attachment to graduate the heat to any temperature that may be desired without the possibility of firing the car or cars to which the Jacket may be attached.

Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a Safety Jacket which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be applied to it in the position and purpose for which it is intended. It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues, or where iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all piping that may become overheated, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto. I am now ready to apply my invention to stores, dwellings, factories, ships, steamboats, railroad cars, &c., wherever pipes as conductors are made dangerous by being overheated and security desired. I will sell, on application, rights to manufacture or to use the above invention; also, territorial rights, to such as may wish to engage in selling privileges, either by State or county.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, May 13, 1868.

The uncertainty of the President's conviction or acquittal has cast a gloom over all financial business. Gold keeps up from 139¾ to 139⅞, with little doing Th arguments in favor of a rise are no stronger than those for a decline in case the President is convicted and removed from office. It would be natural to suppose that when all political agitation were removed gold should rate lower, but, on the other hand, the removal of the President may be looked upon in a different light in Europe, and people there might doubt the stability of our government, and return bonds instead of buying. It is very erroneous to suppose, as many, no doubt, do argue, that it was injurious to our interest to see bonds go out of the country below par, but the United States Treasury is in the same position as any other needy borrower, and whatever the best terms can be made for money, there is the place to go and get it. Before specie payments can be reached, our national debt must increase if we do not tax ourselves beyond the present rate or reduce our expenses; of, course, it does not follow that the increase is in greenbacks, but the greenback debt expressed in coin will reach the present volume of our currency debt, and this we can not prevent, except by the above mentioned method. We have, as a nation, to follow the example of individuals in order to be prosperous after having squandered our position.

In government bonds the market is quiet, there is at present a lull which may turn into an investment fever at any moment.

Money is getting plenttes and cheaper, and must find an outlet for investment. Already is there more investment demand from the interior, and the beginning of next week will doubtless witness an active market in bonds, and a considerable rise.

Stocks are almost unchanged. The western shares remain firm, but the eastern roads are rather depressed, as is also Fort Wayne, in consequence of an article published in the New York Herald, concerning the way large dividends have been declared, but it must be conceded that this road is one of the best managed in the country, and one that has natural advantages over almost any route to the west connecting with the Pacific shares.

Business is quiet-

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, May 13, 1868.

CRUDE—The oil market remains in a very complicated condition, and at this writing it is impossible to say who has the upper hand, the "bulls" or "bears," though the feeling between the opposing elements is about as strong as ever. There was next to nothing done to-day, but a single sale reported, 2,000 bbls, to be delivered between now and November 1st, seller's option, at 10½c. Spot oil, it is said, was offered at 11¾ and 11½c without finding buyers, and so far as we could learn, the offerings as well as the demand, was very light. At Oil City the market is reported firm, with sales at what was considered equivalent to $4,45 to $4,50, delivered free on board Allegheny Valley cars.

REFINED—The market for bonded oil is also in a very complicated condition, with next to nothing doing, and it looks now as if matters would continue as they are for some days. It is reported that there were fresh "calls" for May oil to-day, and, it is also said that the "ring" has up to 22d or 23d inst. in which to make their point—establish their "corner." Whether the movement will be successful or not, it is impossible at this stage of the game to conjecture with any degree of accuracy; if it should turn out to be a failure, the probability of a "tumble" is very strong, though it is hardly probable that prices will go back to where they were previous to the advance. In the meantime, the situation is very interesting to outsiders, though not very pleasant for "short sellers." May oil was offered to-day at 32c, though it was reported that a sale had been made at 32½c. The only sale reported was 500 bbls for last half of June at 30½c. All the year, buyer's option, is nominal at 32½c.

ARRIVALS—The arrivals of oil by river and rail reported to-day were as follows:

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, May 13, 1868.

The general markets are quiet, though moderately active, and while there is less excitement and some articles are a little weak, generally speaking, there are no changes in prices worthy of special notice.

GROCERIES—The market remains firm on all goods except Coffee, which has declined from ¼ to ⅜c, gold, in the East, which has its corresponding effect on our own market. Sugars are very firm at quotations, and we notice an advance of ⅛ to ¼c in the East yesterday on Refined, which will cause our merchants here to advance their prices. As the fruit prospects are very flattering, we may anticipate still higher rates for both raw and refined. Syrups follow Sugars, and are of course, very firm and scarce, and choice Syrups and Drips are almost out of the market. Rice is steady. Teas are firm and quiet. Spices unchanged. Below will be found the ruling prices, taken from sales of the leading houses:

SUGARS—Cuba, 12¼c for good grocery; 12¾ to 13c for prime; and 13¼c for choice; Porto Rico—good, 13c; prime, 13½; choice, 13¾ to 14c; Clarified Cuba, 14 to 14½c. Refined—Standard Hard, 17¼c; A, 16¾c; B, 16¼c; Extra C, 16c; Sugar House, 11 to 12c.

COFFEE—Rio ranges all the way from 22 to 25½c for common to strictly prime. Java 37 to 38c.

SYRUPS—Lovering's $1; Silver Drips, $1; White Drips, $1,10; medium brands, 70 to 80c; common, 50 to 60c.

RICE—Rangoon, good, 10c; prime to choice, 11 to 11½c; Carolina, 12 to 12½c.

MOLASSES—New Orleans, 90 to $1; Cuba, 65 to 70c; Porto Rico, 70 to 75c.

SPICES—Cassia, 80 to 85c; Cloves, 50c; Pepper, 38c; Allspice, 35c; Nutmegs, $1,50.

STARCH—Madison, 8c; Silver Gloss, 12½c; and Corn Starch, 18½c.

FRUITS—Layer Rasins, $4,75 per box; Valentia, 20c per lb; Prunes, 17c; Currants, 14c for new.

BAR LEAD—12c; Shot, $3,50 per bag.

SOAPS—"Babbitt's," 12c; "Oakley's," 11½c; Rosin, 4½ to 6c; "Dobbin's," 15c.

CANDLES—Mould, 16c; Star, 23c.

CONCENTRATED LYE—$7,50 per case.

BI CARB SODA—$8,50 per 100.

FISH—White Fish, $8,00; Lake Herring, $4; Mackerel No. 1, $22; No. 2, $18,00; No. 3, $14,50; in half bbls, 50c more.

TOBACCO—Black 5s, 10s, ⅛s and Louisville Navy, 72 to 75c; Wm. H. Grant's 10s and Navy, 80c; C. & D. Tobacco, 22c to 25c for best.

TEA—The market is firm and prices are higher for new crop. Choice Young Hyson, $1,75; fair, $1,50; common to good, $1 to $1,35; Oolong, 75c, 85c, 90c, $1, $1,25 and $1,35; good Porto Rico, $1 to $1,35, as to quality. Imperial, $1 to $1,85. Japan—Choice, $1,30; fair $1.

APPLES—Quiet but firm, and the supply is almost exhausted. We continue to quote at $6 to $7 per bbl, as to quality.

POTATOES—Peach Blows are in good demand, and we can report regular sales in store at $1,50, to $1,55, and some holders are asking $1,60.

DRIED FRUIT—Peaches firm but unchanged 13½ to 14c for halves. Apples dull and in good supply at 7 to 7½c.

HAY—Weighmaster McNulty, at the Allegheny Diamond Scales, reports sales of 48 loads of Hay at $20 to $28 per ton, and 2 loads Husks at 3c per lb. Baled Hay is selling on wharf at 3c per lb.

MILL FEED—The demand is falling off in consequence of the great improvement in pasturage, and prices are a little weak and drooping. Sales on wharf of 300 sacks at $1,65 to $1,70 for Bran, and $2,15 to $2,20 for Middlings.

GRAIN—Winter Wheat is scarce and unchanged. We continue to quote prime Winter Red at $2,70 to $2,75, and 5 to 8c higher for White. Rye is quiet and nominally unchanged; $2 to $2,10. Oats firm, with sales at 80c to 81 on wharf and track, and 83 to 85c, in store. Corn is steady; sale of 300 bushs in store at $1,15; may be quoted at $1,08 to $1,10 for round lots. No Barley in market.

BUTTER—Is not coming in freely, and, consequently, prices are well maintained; prime Roll may be quoted at 35 to 37c, and choice at 38 to 40c.

EGGS—Dull but unchanged, with a supply considerable in excess of the demand; we give 19c as the standard price.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is hardly so firm, and, if anything, a shade lower; we now quote at 14½c for Shoulders; 16½ to 17c for Ribbed and 18½c to 19c for Clear Sides; 19½ to 20c for Plain, and 20½ to 21c for Canvassed Sugar Cured Hams. Lard, 19½c to 20c. Mess Pork, $29,50 to $30. Dried Beef, 22 to 23c.

LARD OIL—Is firm but unchanged; we continue to quote at $1,25 for No. 2, and $1,55 for No. 1.

FLOUR—Is firm and fairly active but unchanged; we quote at $11,25 to $11,75 for Spring Wheat; $12,00 to $12,75 for Winter Wheat, and $14 to $16 for fancy brands. Rye Flour firm at $10 to $10,25.

New York Dry Goods Market.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

NEW YORK, May 13.—The dry goods market is extremely dull, owing partly to the prevalence of a great rain storm. Prices in the meantime are without essential change, except American prints, which are reduced to 12½c. The market, however, is weak and the tendency is toward a still easier rate for unseasonable styles. Print cloths are down to 9@9½c.

THE FASHIONS.

[Translated from Le Follet, Paris.]

Shall I talk about Longchamps? What is the use? In the first place Longchamps is no longer visited by other than common people, and then holy week made the display of toilet an impossibility, besides the snow which fell in large flakes on the capital, rendering it hardly desirable to dress one's self in spring toillet. On the other hand, the spring costumes exhibit themselves at the wedding masses and on the race courses, and on such occasions you can witness the immense success of changeable silks, which are in demand just as they used to be long ago. These costumes are generally ornamented with plaits of plain taffeta, assorted to one of the shades of the dress. Said plaits are used to profusion and remind you of the toilets of the last century. The following is the description of a costume of that style: The upper skirt of grey-blue taffeta touches the ground and has five or seven plaits, close to each other for ornament; these plaits of taffeta must exactly correspond in shade to one of the shades of the skirt. The latter is looped up en paniers, likewise ornamented with blue plaits and held up at the sides by rosettes of ribbon. The waist is cut pointed behind and square in front, all ornamented with plaits. The sleeves are half long, that is they are tight-fitting as far as the elbow and become larger like an open sleeve, all bordered with plaits.

The Lamballe mantelet is cut round behind and crossed in front, falling back in half-flaps at the sides; the ornaments are small plaits of blue taffeta, and the mantelet is fastened by a round sash. With it goes a round straw hat, one of the rims being looped up and lined with blue gauze and fastened by a clasp of fresh myosotis, surrounded by a grey feather. This costume is altogether very graceful and characteristic, and highly recommendable to a young and handsome woman. Cashmere is likewise worn to a great extent. There is nothing more becoming than that style, and a toilet which would look awkward if made of taffeta or poplin, appears charming when made of cashmere. Black cashmere costumes may be ornamented with lace or guipure; cashmere of light shades have taffeta plaits or ruches for ornaments. A very pretty costume for a little girl is a round skirt of Sevres-blue cashmere, trimmed with several small flounces, one sewed immediately above the other. The Polish cassock has a ruche for ornament, is fastened in front by a double ruche, comes up in the shape of a square waist without sleeves and with a double ruche all round; a muslin chemisette with plaits and blue ribbons alternately, completes the costume. The sash is knotted behind the waist and bordered with a double plait all round. The round hat of white straw is turned up at the sides and behind. These three points are bordered with blue ribbon and fastened by three pale roses.

For long toillets changeable taffeta and striped silk is much en vogue; but it is a style which is hardly ever worn outside of solemn occasions, such as marriage—masses, dinner parties, etc. The cloaks continue to offer a large variety of styles, from the small mantelet Marie Antoinette to the cashmere cloak in form of a tunic, with a pelerine in front and knotted behind in form of a long sash. This latter mode is the personification of gracefulness and style. The mantelets with hood, fastened in front by the round belt and the tight-fitting cassock, with fichu Marie Antoinette knotted behind, are all the fashion. The latter style is particularly adapted to a lady who can wear the somewhat juvenile looking Marie Antoinette mantelet, the cassock thus taking the place of the mantelet. Linen wear becomes more fanciful in its style than ever. Fichus of Indian lace, as a head dress, for instance, with a point on the head or falling down on the shoulders, are quite fashionable. If the point is on the head, it is fastened by a rosebud a little on one side. Another fashion is the fichu-hood of black lace or yak, lined with pink crape and with assorted ribbons or flowers. These hoods are met with in the parks of castles. Among the new models of bonnets I have noticed a very becoming square shape, opened a little on the chignon and bordered all round with lace ruches, interspersed with small knots of ribbon or with flowers. The ribbon strings are formed in shape of a sash in front and cross each other on the bosom under a knot or a flower. I believe I have mentioned once before, that aprons begin to become fashionable again. Every well assorted trousseau must have at least six aprons, ornamented with plaits of ribbon or guipure.

They are often made of taffeta of changeable shades, and they are variegated in shapes of the most capricious character.

Our Soldier Dead.

Hon. John A. Logan, Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, has issued General Orders No. 11, from which we take the following extracts:

"The 30th day of May, 1868 is designated for the purpose of strewing with flowers and otherwise decorating the graves of comrades who died in defense of their country during the later rebellion, and whose bodies lie in almost every city, and village, and church yard in the land. In this observance no form or cermony is prescribed, but posts and comrades will in their own way arrange such fitting services and testimonials of respect as circumstances may permit."

"We are organized, comrades as our regulations tell us, for the purpose, among other things, of preserving and strengthening those kind and fraternal feelings which have bound together the soldiers, sailors and marines who unite to suppress the rebellion. We cannot aid more to assure this result than by cherishing tenderly the memory of our heroic dead, who made their breasts a barricade between our country and its foes.

"Let us, then, at the time appointed, gather around their sacred remains and garland the passionless mounds above them with choices flowers of spring time; let us raise above them the dear old flag they have saved from dishonor; let us in this solemn presence renew our pledges to aid and assist those whom they have left among us a sacred charge upon a nation's gratitude—the soldier's and sailor's widow and orphan."

"It is the purpose of the Commander-in-Chief to inaugurate this observance with the hope that it will be kept up from year to year while a survivor of the war remains to honor the memory of his departed comrades. He earnestly desires the public press to call attention to this order, and lend its friendly aid in bringing it to the notice of comrades in all parts of the country in time for simultaneous compliance therewith."

The Wilmington Commercial gives an estimate of the Delaware peach crop for the approaching season. It says that there are 1,047,625 trees along the main line of the Delaware Railroad, and that their yield is estimated at 1,101,140 baskets. This, of course, is subject to all weather contingencies hereafter. The crop of strawberries, blackberries and similar fruit along the line of the same road is estimated at 208,100 quarts.

CLIPPINGS.

The Toledo Blade says the Cincinnati bridge struggle was decided by whiskey. The long span lobbyists were a trifle stingy in the quality and quantity of the whiskey provided, and the Democracy voted short span. The short spanners knew best how to approach a Democratic Legislature.

Weston, the pedestrian, now threatens to walk from Bangor, Me., to St. Paul, Minn, and back to Buffalo, N. Y., in all 5,000 miles, to be completed in one hundred consecutive days. The main stakes are to be for $50,000, and the trial is to begin on the 18th of August and terminate on the 26th of November.

Francis Anne Kemble, in her Shaksperian readings in Boston, is arrayed in a light purple gown trimmed with purple velvet and black lace, and her stage appointments are au Dickens. At her first reading in the United States, on the evening of January 26, 1849, also at Boston, she was escorted to the stage by Charles Sumner.

A Spanish lady has had in her employment an English coachman—steady and well conducted. The latter unexpectedly succeeded to six thousand pounds a year. His mistress told him he was at full liberty to leave, but he implored to be allowed to remain, and can be seen driving his mistress around the "lakes" with the same respect as when he was on his forty pounds per annum and board wages.

The beauty of the flowers this year in Paris is wonderful. "Dear," you say. "Of course they are dear—so is everything from household bread to truffles; but they are lovely also. The markets are quite floricultural shows, the beauty of the flowers being enhanced by the ugliness of the women who pester you to buy them, and who are, by some strange law of nature, the plainest of their race."—Paris Correspondent.

Jasper Blackburn, member of Congress elect from one of the interior districts of Louisiana, has arrived in New Orleans. He says thousands of colored people in his district are actually starving. Nearly every negro who voted at the recent election has been discharged by his employer. Organizations of white men are in existence to see that those people are not employed or shown any mercy. He charges that Hancock's election commissioners are guilty of all sorts of frauds, and he hopes to prove this when he gets a hearing.

The Catholic Church in the United States has shown remarkable progress. It is not yet eighty years since the first Catholic bishop came to this country, and sixty years ago, the entire Union formed but one diocese. To-day there are 59 bishops and vicars apostolic and about 3,300 priests. It is estimated that the Catholic population now numbers from 7,000,000 to 9,000,000 in this country. Since 1850, the number of churches has nearly tripled, and within the last seven years the clergy and laity have increased fifty per cent.

In Hastings, Minn., a little boy named Willie Allison, six years old, straved from home. At six o'clock he was seen on the very outskirts of the town by a boy ten years old, who tried to get him into the house, as it was cold, raining and freezing, but he answered, "No, I am going home." He continued on, going away from instead of toward home, and that was the last seen of him till his lifeless body was found the next afternoon, fully eight miles away, on the Red Wing Road. He was lying as he first fell down, evidently, his face on the ground, with his arms by his side.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

INTERESTING REVENUE CASE.

Trial of Government Officers of the Twentieth District for Bribery and Corruption.

In the United States District Court, before Judge M'Candless, the case of the United States vs. Charles C. Johnson and Richard F. Wilson, revenue officers, indicted for bribery and conspiracy, was resumed on Wednesday morning.

Direct examination of John F. Smith resumed by Mr. Carnahan, District Attorney:

I have an order and some telegrams from Wilson. (Order shown.) This is in Wilson's handwriting, and was carried to me by the man who got the oil, whose name I think was Hollister, residing at Espyville. (Telegram shown.) Wilson wanted me to ship to Holbrook. This was our bonded oil. Received a number of telegrams from Wilson, but did not preserve them. Found these lately, since we got into trouble. I went down to Oil City in pursuance of a telegram of November 4th, 1867; took my books down, and at that time we made a report. [Telegram of Oct. 27th, 1867, shown.] Have no recollection about this; no doubt I received it. Sometimes Wilson signed his name "Dick," and sometimes R. F. Wilson. [Order shown, of R. F. Wilson, Nov. 11th, 1867, on witness to deliver five barrels of refined oil; also telegram, Oct. 31st, 1867, Philadelphia.] W. R. Groves was Inspector for our District, the 20th. He did not inspect all the oil run at my refinery from September, '67 to January, '68. He inspected the bonded oil, and a few barrels of free oil which I got permits to ship. The remainder I inspected with a false brand. [Brand produced, made of prepared paper, stiffer than pasteboard, and resembling copper.] The genuine brand is made of copper; this looks like it. This (the brand) was delivered to me by Harvey Kennedy, Wilson's brother-in-law. Have no means of telling how many barrels I branded—more than 500, may be 600, may be more. It was sent to Burkhart, Cincinnati, Ohio, and to James E. White, Syracuse, New York; only one car load, 52 barrels, to White. Wilson told me he cut the brand, and that it took him all night to do it. W. R. Groves, (Inspector) occupied an office with Wilson at Oil City at the time I got the brand, on the 1st or 2d day of October. All the oil, except as mentioned, had this brand on. Bonded about two car loads a month—400 to 500 barrels a month—and bonded 32 barrels to keep a show of business. About three-fourths of all the oil I made was fraudulent. All the Cincinnati oil went to Burkhart. I shipped it in the name of Mr. Bellamy. Defendants told me to ship such oil in the name of a broker. Johnson said he overhauled railroad books, and he did not want to find my name in them on any of this kind of oil. Bellamy was an oil broker at Rouseville; he died a day or two before New Years; he knew nothing of the frauds; he financiered for me; I got bills of lading and gave them to Bellamy, and on them he got the money. The oil to White was shipped in the name of Stowel. Bellamy was then dead. Wilson, I think, advised me to ship in Stowel's name, Stowel is a banker at Rouseville, and knew nothing of the fraud. Wilson wanted a car load of oil; went with him to Stowel and told him (Stowel) I was going to ship a car load of oil, the proceeds of which would go to Wilson. Stowel said all well; this was in the bank; Stowel, Wilson and myself present, about January 6, 1868. Wilson asked for an advance, and Stowel gave him $200 in my presence. I did not owe him anything. One time endorsed notes for him; never heard of them afterward. Made no explanation to Stowel, except that the whole proceeds of the car load were to go to Wilson; there were 2,308 gallons at 40 cents per gallon, amounting in value to $923.20; the oil was sold at 39½ cents per gallon. The money advanced by Stowel was not included in $650 I paid to Wilson. The first money I paid Wilson was on October 17, 1867, on Sunday; I charged it at or about the time; it was paid at my house. I went to Bellamy and got a check for $100, think on Stowel's bank to myself; I think, I know, I did not endorse it; no person was present. Wilson, Johnston and Groves came up to my house together that day. Wilson took me outside and I got him the check. Some time thereafter I gave $200 to Harvey Kennedy, clerk and brother-in-law of Wilson; this was cash; I got it before bank hours from Bellamy on the street. Wilson afterwards told me he got the money. I made an entry of it in my book at the time, and the book shows it to have been Oct. 24, 1867; the book shows the next payment, $100, Nov. 23, 1867; can't tell now how it was paid, think by a check from Bellamy. Wilson telegraphed to Bellamy to come down and give him $100; I was away from home; I paid it back to Bellamy, or was charged with it. Wilson told me so, also Bellamy. While Bellamy was sick, Smith of Oil City and Wilson came in a cutter from Oil City. Wilson wanted money. I went to Bellamy, and I think Cyrus Laughlin drew a check for $200. Think Bellamy signed his name: this was done some time in December; the entry in my book shows it to have been Dec. 20, 1867. One time Wilson came and wanted $50, and said it was for Johnston; sent R. Walker to get $150 and let Wilson have $50. Wilson told me he got $50 from Bellamy before Walker got there.

The first conversation about the false brand was before I commenced running my refinery; the thing was so general that I cannot tell the exact place in Oil City where the conversation took place. Wilson told me he would get the false brand as soon as October came in. He told me, in September, he was getting me a copper brand cut in Pittsburgh; said he was going to Pittsburgh, but couldn't get it without an order from the Inspector of the Twentieth District, hence he was obliged to cut this (the one shown) for me from Grove's brand; said he cut it the night before it come to my place. Johnston said once to be careful and put the brand on better, that he had seen some barrels and that the brand looked as if I was scared; told me to take my time. I built a shed without windows, and took my time. The brand was a good imitation.

My place was seized in May or June, 1867, for money I owed the Government. In January last I was seized, a man put in charge of my place, and the whole was sold by the United States Marshal. A day or two before the sale Johnston came to my house and wanted some money. My refinery was burned November 25th, Thanksgiving eve. Most of the money I paid prior to that I paid to Mr. McGuff on account of my debt to the Government. I rebuilt my refinery; defendants requested me to build right up immediately after the fire. This conversation was with both defendants at different times. They said they had'nt enough for their services; said there was no danger, and referred to other works running under their arrngement. After I started again both of the defendants flocked in for money. I had given Wilson a car load of oil, and Johnston said "Dick" was a hawk and had'nt paid him anything. I expressed myself strongly at this. He told me he had borrowed some money from "Dick" on that account. I was then more worried than before. He said he didn't give any note, and it was all right. But then he wanted $1,500 for the missionary cause; said he had borrowed $200 from "Dick." I was dead broke. We agreed on three different payments, $500 a week for three weeks. He wanted me to put the money in envelopes and give them to Mr. Castle or Mr. Greenfield, and they would give it to him. Castle and Greenfield are related to Johnston—Castle a cousin, and Greenfield's wife a cousin. This I refused to do. I did not want any more in the "ring." It was finally agreed that I would put a $500 bill in an envelope and give it to him each week at the dances at Castle's. He said he wanted to pay to Mr. Hays, the assessor, his proportion of the $500, and as I was a good fellow he would pay it out of his own pocket and trust me. No part of this money was advanced, because the government seized the works a few days afterwards. The arrangement was to pay him the $1,500 to keep me harmless. He said when the money was paid he intended to make me a new brand with the "B" out, and run it as they did the Meadville Refinery. "B" oil was subject to twenty cents tax. But there was an oil which certain officials had to keep their party together. It was a new thing, that Rollins, the Commissioner, would give to a few officials, and no one would touch it. They told me when I was seized to fight uncle Sam—"to go for him," that they would dam up everything with papers. They had a lawyer named ——, in Meadville, that superintended the "ring." I forgave uncle Sam, did not fight him. They wanted me to employ counsel, as they had influence with the Judge and District Attorney and could quash the proceedings here. There were papers prepared for me to sign and swear to; they would not let me have them, and never saw them afterwards. They asked by my signing the papers and swearing to them, to prove them (defendants) innocent of all this fraud in oil. Johnston had possession of the papers. I never could get them. I refused to sign them. Inducements were held out and threats made. They said this was the way they fixed the Meadville works; the papers would save them (defendants) and then they would save me in the seizure of my works. Asked them how they could do this. They said they could have me arrested and swear against me; they said there was to be an official investigation and they wanted me to sign the papers to be presented to the committee; each of them, Johnston and Wilson, had a paper. This conversation was with Johnson in the back room of the Revenue office at Oil City. Defendants separately asked me to sign the papers. Did not read Wilson's papers; read Johnston's; this was, according to memorandum, about the 15th of February.

District Attorney Carnahan proposed to give notice to the counsel to produce the papers in question.

Mr. Marshall denied the existence of the papers.

Witness continued—The papers were in law form, and commenced about this way, "I, the said Charles C. Johnston, is in no way connected with the said J. F. Smith in the fraud of his oil, and I J. F. Smith disown his connection with it in any word, deed, action, or form." I cannot give the exact words; it was a nicely written document, of a great deal of meaning in a very little paper. Was asked to swear to it; told defendants I would not, that that was their part of the arrangement; it was their business to keep me protected; I made the oil; never saw Johnson about the matter after that night. Went to see my lawyer, whom I had been consulting since my difficulty with defendants. After the conversation about signing the papers I went the backway to Groves' house for fear of arrest, and left on the early train by the Allegheny Valley route. Went home from Groves' house about ten o'clock. At Pittsburgh I put in an answer to a libel against my oil works. Know a man by the name of Meade, who is said to be a detective. I was to make oath before him to the papers presented to me by defendant. Rode in the train from Rouseville to Oil City with Meade. The false brand was brought to me in a small hand bag, about October 1st, early in the morning. Think Wilson followed the oil I shipped to Syracuse, to Mr. White; he (Wilson) told me the oil had been sold for 39½ cents. I was to treat Johnston in public as a stranger, and be careful not to excite suspicion. When the refinery was burned Wilson came to me and said he ought to have half the tax, as Johnston out of his proceeds paid Hays, the assessor. They were bound to make me run my refinery at all events. Went to Wilson and wanted oil regularly inspected, but he said no, refused, and assured me more strongly than ever that the whole thing was safe. I asked him to have one hundred and twenty barrels inspected, but Wilson only ordered twenty inspected. [Witness was shown a paper and said it was one he had given to District Attorney Carnahan. It was received from Mr. McGuff, collector, and showed the inspection of the twenty barrels referred to. A railroad receipt was also offered, showing the shipment of oil to White, Syracuse, New York; accompanying this was an inspector's certificate dated Jan. 4th, 1868.]

Witness continued—A man by the name of Hollister got about twenty barrels in May—or about that time, without any understanding; he came and bought; there was no fraud about it. Robert Walker, in my employ, delivered the oil; he had been at my refinery for several years as cooper. My monthly reports were made up by Wilson and signed by me without swearing to them. Wilson said it was only a matter of form.

The direct examination closed, and Mr. Marshall cross-examined on behalf of Johnston. The examination developed nothing material, excepting that the witness differed somewhat in his statement as to the time or frequency of his interviews with Johnston in November. Mr. Hopkins also cross-examined on behalf of Wilson, and witness was dismissed from the stand at half-past two o'clock.

Two witnesses from Syracuse, New York, James E. White and J. B. Kenyon, were next called, and out of order, the District Attorney stating he desired to accommodate the gentlemen by allowing them to return home, having been detained in the city for some days at great inconvenience.

Mr. White testified that while on a visit to Rouseville, Venango county, he had a conversation with Smith about the shipment of oil to Syracuse, and witness agreed to advance $500. A shipment of fifty-two barrels was made by the broker Stowel, and a draft drawn on White for $500, which he accepted. The oil was received in Syracuse on Saturday night, January 25th; Wilson, defendant, was in Syracuse on that day (Saturday) and stating that he wanted some money, White gave him $25. White negotiated for the sale of the oil at 39½c cash or 40c thirty days. There was some suspicion that the oil was not all right, had not paid tax, hence a probability of its seizure. The presence of Wilson, a revenue officer in the oil regions, being made known, he was conferred with, and in pursuance of his representations the oil was disposed of for cash at 39½c, on the 27th of January, White accounting for the proceeds to Stowel, the broker at Rouseville. This is about the substance of Mr. White's testimony.

Mr. Kenyon was one of the firm who purchased the oil. Suspicion was excited about the oil from the fact of its being offered at a lower price than the firm had been able to buy previously, but it was concluded to make the purchase on time, judging that if there was any fraud, it would be developed in the course of thirty days. But when Wilson, a revenue officer in the locality whence the oil came, was asked whether the oil had paid tax, he replied in the affirmative, whereupon the purchase was concluded for cash, at 39½ cents.

The Court at three o'clock adjourned till ten o'clock Thursday.

The Police Uniforms.—The entire cost of the police uniforms and equipments, 102 in number, amounts to $5,059.89, making an average of $49.60 per suit. The sample uniform, which was forwarded from the east, cost $54.68. Out of the above there remains on hand, the dies for buttons, which cost $50.00, $10.00 worth of cloth and buttons, which will reduce the cost of the uniforms to about $49.00. Deduct from this $5.00 for the cap and equipments, and it leaves the net cost of the coat, pants, vest and gloves $44.00. The $5,059.89 covers all expenses connected with the uniforms, even to the telegrams cast and the expressage on the buttons.

Street Crossings.—We learn from Street Commissioner Hunter that new crossings are to be placed on Smithfield and Market streets, at Fifth street, immediately. This is a much needed improvement, and should have been made years ago.

THE COURTS.

United States District Court—Judge McCandless.

Petitions for final discharge, under the bankruptcy law, were filed by Nathan Miller, of Luzerne county, Geo. H. Orth, of Washington county, John M'Gilvray, of Pittsburgh.

A petition for adjudication was filed by Adie E. Irwin, of Blair county.

A petition was filed by Isaac Watkins, of the firm of Graff, Watkins & Co., of Philadelphia, asking that Jackson Orr, of Venango county, be declared a bankrupt. The petition sets forth that the defendant is indebted to the petitioners in the sum of $706.82, for boots and shoes sold and delivered. The alleged acts of bankruptcy, as stated in the petition, were that the defendant made and delivered a note for $2,000 to H. J. Sayers, of Venango county, and that he subsequently assigned and tranferred to the same person money amounting to six thousand dollars, for the purpose of giving him preference over petitioners and other creditors, and with a view of delaying the operations of the bankrupt law.

Samuel J. Downing, of Venango county, filed a petition for final discharge. The usual orders were made.

Petitions for adjudication were filed by J. N. Fuller, of Crawford county, and Geo. Bradley, of Venango county.

Common Pleas—Judge Stowe.

In the case of Henry Sproul vs. English & Co., reported yesterday, the jury was unable to agree, and were discharged.

The next case taken up was that of Herman, Baker & Co., vs. J. H. Johnston. The jury found for plaintiff's in the sum of $656.

Thomas Crummy and others vs. Chas. Austin, et al. This was an action in ejectment for a tract of land in Richland township. Verdict for defendants.

The next case called up was that of Barry & Bro. vs James Harrison. This was an action to recover for work done in painting his houses for defendant. On trial.

Died of His Injuries—Coroner's Inquest.

Tuesday morning a man was found lying on the track of the Pennsylvania Railway at Denny's Curve, an account of which we published in the GAZETTE of yesterday, which was mainly correct. We stated that the injured man resided near where he was found, which we learn was not the case. His name it appears was Victor Schwind, and he resided with his father at 50 Walnut street, in the Fifth ward. He was removed from where he was found to the Round House, and Dr. Asdale was called to see him. About eight o'clock a. m. his father came and took him home, where he remained insensible until he died about seven o'clock Tuesday evening. At first he was supposed to have met with foul play, but his injuries seem rather to have been produced by falling on the stones where he was found. It is said that he was at Iron City Park attending a pic nic, on Monday afternoon and evening, but whether he received his fatal injuries by falling off one of the evening trains, or whether he fell over the embankment by the curve is not known. His family supposed him to be in bed until yesterday morning. The deceased was twenty-one years of age, and worked at shoemaking.

Coroner Clawson was notified of his death and proceeded to hold an inquest upon the body yesterday morning, when the following testimony was taken:

Victor Schwind, Sr., sworn—On last Monday deceased worked until four o'clock P. M. He then went to my sister's on St. Clair street. I left home at nine o'clock P. M., and shortly after I had gone he came in and asked my wife if all were in bed. She replied all but me. He then went out of the back door. The next morning I went to his bed but he was not there. The next I heard was that a man saw a person lying near the Pennsylvania Railroad track, and a letter found on his person directed to me, No. 19 St. Clair street, where I lived for seventeen years. I went and found him lying at the Round House. He was not sensible at the time. Dr. Asdale was with him when I found him. I brought him home on Tuesday morning at about eight o'clock. He never spoke after I found him.

The inquest here adjourned to be resumed at Alderman Taylor's office this afternoon at four o'clock.

A Good Invention.

Mr. James Miller, of Allegheny city, has invented an apparatus for distilling petroleum, for which letters patent have been granted, numbered 77070. The apparatus consists of two vacuum stills, from which the air is extracted by means of an air pump, one of which is used for heating the oil and draining off its more volatile ingredients, and the other for carrying on a continuous distillation by feeding them the heated oil from the former still through a room, with operations at the bottom of the still. By keeping a uniform quantity of oil in the distilling tank it is claimed that the discoloration from the tar and other matter which accumulates and is burned on the bottom of the still by the ordinary method is prevented. The invention has several other advantages over the present method of distilling, which readily present themselves upon examination of the apparatus, one of which is the very low degree of heat required, and the use of the gases and condensed vapers as fuel for runing the still. It is certainly a great invention, and if successful is destined to work a revolution in the oil trade, as it is claimed that it will reduce the expenses of distilling at least one dollar per barrel. It is certainly worthy of the attention of oil men.

Misdemeanor in Office.

Friday of last week we published an item under the above caption, stating that M. Powell had made information before Alderman McMasters, charging Alderman Baillie of the First ward, Allegheny, with misdemeanor in office, and that the Alderman was held to bail in the sum of $500 for his appearance at Court. The misdemeanor alleged was the issuing of an execution attachment in a case where the money had been paid. The Alderman alleges that there were two judgments in favor of Atkins, one for $20, against Powel and wife, and the other for $12, against Powell & Co. The former he says was paid, and it was on the latter that the attachment was issued. As an evidence that the Alderman's statement is correct, Mr. Powell yesterday came to his office and in the presence of David Powell, the garnishee, John Potts, W. A. Leggate, W. B. Rodgers and several others paid the judgment. The Alderman is still under bail for his appearance at Court, and refuses to be released, as he desires to have the matter thoroughly investigated before the proper tribunal.

Frightful Runaway.

About half-past one o'clock yesterday a frightful runaway took place on Hand street. A horse attached to a light trotting wagon was left standing on Hand street near the bridge, and while the driver was absent he took fright and dashed up the street toward Penn. Just before reaching Penn street the light wagon came in contract with a heavier vehicle and was turned over. The horse proceeded across Penn street at a frightful rate of speed, taking the vehicle with him, notwithstanding it was turned upside down. At the corner of Hand and Liberty he came in contact with a dray, to which there was a horse attached, and turned them both completely over. The runaway proceeded down Liberty street in his wild career, running and kicking at a fearful rate until near 6th. Clair street, where he brought up against a lamp post. No person was injured so far as we were able to learn, yet quite a number made very narrow escapes.

Pittsburgh and Allegheny Orphan Asylum.

The thirty-sixth annual meeting of the contributors to the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Orphan Asylum was held on Tuesday afternoon in the institution on Ridge street, Allegheny. Felix R. Brunot, Esq., presided. Prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. Preston, after which the children of the Asylum sang a beautiful hymn. The annual reports of the Secretary and Treasurer of the institution were then read.

The Secretary's report was a very interesting document. It showed that sixty-nine children have been received into the Asylum during the past year. Thirty-five have been placed in suitable homes, or returned to their friends. One died, a soldiers' orphan, whose remains were sent to his mother's home in Fayette county, for interment, leaving 222 as inmates of the institution. Of this number, 143 are soldier's orphans for whom compensation is given by the State. One soldier's orphan, a cripple boy, has his name on the roll, but is allowed to board with his mother. Two soldiers' widows dying have given children until they are old enough to be placed under State control.

A fitting tribute is paid to the ladies immediately charged with the management of the institution. The Asylum was afflicted with much sickness last year, but through excellent nursing and careful medical attendance, death did not enter the household of the little ones.

But few changes have been made during the past year. Many of the children now present have been industriously engaged from day to day with their studies. To them it has been a year of steady progress in their quiet and happy home. Kind friends did not forget their holiday festivals, and many little hearts were made happy as they gathered around the well spread tables. To these helpless children, deprived in early childhood of home and a mother's care, we cannot estimate the benefit and blessing conferred by this, their Orphan Asylum.

The Treasurer's report showed a gratifying condition of financial affairs, there being a balance in the Treasury of $4,360.96, and an invested amount by order of the Board of $6,300. These reports were accepted, after which the meeting proceeded to an election for a Board of Managers of the institution to serve for the ensuing year, when the following ladies were elected:

Mrs. E. Denny,	Mrs. H. Childs,
Mrs. Gen. Robinson,	Mrs. W. Vankirk,
Mrs. Mary Wilkins,	Mrs. Kay,
Mrs. J. T. Logan,	Mrs. L. Holmes,
Mrs. F. R. Brunot,	Mrs. Scott,
Mrs. R. S. Hays,	Miss Holmes,
Mrs. B. B. Hays,	Miss Thaw,
Mrs. R. Robison,	Miss Lathrop,

Miss M. H. Smith.

A Whitewashed Negro.

Solomon Clair, a colored man, is a "boss" whitewashor, and having taken a contract to whitewash a stable, employed John Smith (colored) to do the work. Smith, it appears, went to work yesterday morning, and after he had been engaged for some time Clair, the "boss" of the job, came along to see how he was progressing. Smith's work did not suit him, and he ordered it to be done in a different way. This interference on the part of Clair offended Smith, and without any further talk he attacked Clair with the brush with which he had been working and gave him a complete whitewashing and a severe body beating. Clair made information before Justice Barker charging Smith with assault and battery. He was arrested and held for a hearing.

Great bargains may be anticipated, as the articles must be knocked down to the highest bidder.

Aggravated Assault and Battery.—Martin Amity made information before Alderman Humbert yesterday, charging Lewis Bernd with aggravated assault and battery. It appears that the alleged offence was committed on the 14th of April in a beer saloon on Ohio street. The parties were scuffling, when the prosecutor was thrown against the counter with such force as to break both bones of his right leg above the knee. He alleges that it was done intentionally, but the defendant states that it was an accident. He says they were not angry, but were scuffling in fun. He was arrested and held to bail in the sum of $500 for his appearance at court.

Alarm of Fire.—At half-past one o'clock yesterday afternoon, an alarm of fire was sounded from box 61 at Penn and Harrison streets, which was occasioned by a burning chimney in the house of Mr. Frank Dun, on Liberty street, below Harrison. Mr. Dun was burning out his chimney and for that purpose placed some straw in the fire, the smoke from which caused the alarm. The entire fire Department was on the ground in a remarkably short time after the alarm, but their services were not needed.

Poisoned His Dogs.—Philip Wiel, of Birmingham, was the owner of two valuable dogs, which he says were perfectly harmless. Henry Palmer he alleges had an antipathy to dogs, and threatened to kill them if he did not keep them chained. He neglected to chain them, and yesterday morning found them both dead in his yard, having evidently been poisoned. He made information charging Palmer with malicious mischief. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

Larceny.—Frank Sellers, of the firm of Sellers & Co., pork dealers, made information before the Mayor, charging Conrad Bebbing with larceny. The accused was employed by the prosecutor, in the pork house, corner of Penn and Wayne streets, from which it is alleged he stole a web of muslin, used for sacking meat. He was arrested, and after a hearing committed for Court.

Larceny by Bailee.—Julia Reed made information before Justice Barker of South Pittsburgh, charging Emma Fletcher with larceny by bailee. She alleges that the accused borrowed a silk sacque of her valued at $5 to wear to a party, and that she still retains possession of it and refuses to give it up. A warrant was issued for her arrest.

Row in a Saloon.—W. J. Barry and John Sweeny got into a difficulty in a saloon on Washington street, yesterday, in which Sweeny gave the other a severe beating. Barry made information before Alderman Butler charging Sweeny with assault and battery. He was arrested and held for a hearing.

Explained.—We stated yesterday morning that we observed two policemen on duty who were not in full dress. The Mayor informs us that it was unavoidable as the coat and pants referred to had to be altered before the men could wear them.

Committed for Court.—Justice George T. Rudisill, of Sewickley, committed James McGorden yesterday, in default of bail for his appearance at the next Quarter Sessions, to answer a charge of fornix et cet, in which Lizzie McLaughlin is prosecutrix.

In Service Again.—The "Hope" Steam Fire Engine of Allegheny which has been out of service for some days past undergoing repairs, is ready for use again.

Heavy Robbery.

On Tuesday at noon Mr. E. H. Myers, of the firm of E. H. Myers & Co., wholesale grocers, corner of Liberty and Irwin streets, left his office temporarily, forgetting to turn the safe lock. During his brief absence, some thief entered and abstracted over three thousand dollars in bank notes and checks. The following were the checks lost:

Check No. 1560, on Citizens National Bank, from F. Sellers & Co., favor E. H. Myers & Co., for $1,125 01.

No. 9, on Lawrenceville Savings Bank, from Mitchel & Siter, favor E. H. Myers & Co., for $800 00.

Check on Farmers' Deposit National Bank, from J. B. Hezlep, to order E. H. Myers & Co., for $300 00.

Check on Franklin Savings Bank, Allegheny, from J. F. Grubbs, favor E. H. Myers & Co., for $200.

Check No. 91, on First National Bank of Huntingdon, Pa., favor E. H. Myers & Co., from D. Africa, for $44.00.

The payment of the checks and drafts was promptly stopped, and in our advertising columns will be found a notice to banks and bankers, served by the firm of Myers & Co., not to negotiate for any of the above described paper. The robbery was a very bold one and adroitly managed.

The Last Days of ex-President Martin Van Buren were made comfortable by the use of Jonas Whitcomb's Asthma Remedy. Letters in our possession from his physician, and from Mr. Van Buren himself express much gratification with the results of its use.

Extracts from the "Life of Washington Irving, by his nephew, Pierre M. Irving, Vol. IV., page 272:

"The doctor prescribed, as an experiment,—what had been suggested by Dr. (O. W.) Holmes on his late visit,—'Jonas Whitcomb's Remedy for Asthma,' a teaspoonful in a wineglass of water, to be taken every four hours. A good night was the result."

In no case of purely Asthmatic character has it failed to give prompt relief, and in many cases a permanent cure has been effected. No danger need be apprehended from its use. An infant may take it with perfect safety. (See Circular.)

JOSEPH BURNETT & Co.,
T&T Boston, Sole Proprietor.

Forcible Entry.—John Murphy made information before Alderman Thomas yesterday, charging Peter Hess with forcible entry and detainer. It appears that Murphy occupies two rooms in Hess's house in the Eighth ward, and he alleges that when he returned home on Saturday night he found his family and goods in the street, and the door of his portion of the house locked, and on inquiry found that Hess, who occupies the remaining portion of the house, had put them out, locked the door, and had the key in his pocket. Hess was arrested and held to bail for his appearance at Court.

The ice cream season is now at hand, and persons desiring to procure this tempting and delicious delicacy will find one of the best appointed and most genteel saloons in the city at No. 105 Fifth street. Mr. McGuire's dining rooms are justly regarded as the most retired in the city, where ladies can visit unaccompanied by gentlemen. Meals and luncheons are served at all hours. A very fine assortment of confectionaries and sweet meats at very reasonable prices.

Temperance Convention.—Grand Worthy Patriarch G. W. Pratt, of the Grand Division of Sons of Temperance in this State, has arrived in this city and will speak this evening at the Temperance Convention which meets at Rev. James Robinson's Church, on Pennsylvania Avenue. From present appearances the Convention promises to be one of the largest ever held in this city. All churches and lodges are requested to send delegates and all interested cordially invited to attend.

Cut His Board Bill.—Mary J. Dillworth, a boarding house keeper in the Fourth Ward, Allegheny, made information before Alderman Mullin, charging Robert Hamyer with obtaining board under false pretence. She alleges that the accused came to her house to board on the 15th of April and obtained board to the amount of eight dollars, when he decamped without paying her. He it appears left the city but recently returned, when he was arrested and held for a hearing.

Alleged Perjury.—Michael Mullen yesterday made information before Alderman M'Masters charging Thomas Campbell with perjury. Campbell made information before the Mayor, Tuesday, charging Mullen and another man with larceny. They were arrested and after a hearing discharged. Campbell it appears alleged in his information against them, that, they had broken open the door, which Mullen alleges is false. Campbell was arrested and held for a hearing.

Allegheny Fair.—The Fair at the Allegheny House of Industry attracted a very large audience last night, and the greatest excitement prevailed over the municipal cane contest. The fair will not close to-night, as hitherto announced.

The firm daily receive fresh invoices of all the leading styles of the season, direct from the importers' hands and offer good goods at as low prices as can be obtained elsewhere. Their windows give a poor idea of the excellence of their stock.

At the Masonic Hall auction house of Smithson, Vanhook & McClelland there will be offered at public sale, this morning at ten o'clock, and afternoon at two o'clock, a very good assortment of Hair, Cotton and Husk Matresses, Extension Tables, New Carpets, and a general assortment of Furniture and Household Goods. The establishment is under the charge of Mr. Harvey, lately from Washington city, who is one of the best workmen in the city, and he employs none but competent persons. His charges are reasonable and satisfaction is warranted to all who patronize him.
